VOLUME XIV, TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 29, 1881. PRICE 5 CENTS

COX'S COMEDY,

OR THE PRANKS OF THE TALKATIVE PRISONER.

Being the Tale of the Alleged Trial of one Guiteau, Charged with Certain Unlawful Acts, such as Falling "Desperately in Love," and other Deeds of a like Grave Character.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—The third week of the Guiteau trial opened bright and balmy, and the attendance in the court room was as large as that of any previous day. The marshall delivered his daily admonition to the audience, and requested the same order be observed as would be in church. Mr. Scoville and his coadjutors, Charles H. Reed and J. W. Guiteau, were early in their seats, but the counsel for the prosecution did not enter until several minutes after ten. The monotonous oyez of the secretary having been delivered, the names of the jury were called and the prisoner was brought in. Mr. Scoville asked consent to interrupt Mrs. Scoville's examination so as to put upon the stand one or two witnesses from a distance, who desired to leave the city to-day. The prosecution, however, objected, and Mrs. Scoville's examination was resumed. She described Guiteau's appearance and actions during his visit to her house in 1878. Meanwhile the crowd in the corridors had pressed their way through the marshall's office, and in the effort to effect an entrance to the court room caused a momentary confusion, which necessitated a suspension of court proceedings for a few minutes. Quite a din of female voices were heard vociferating loudly that they would be squeezed to death, and begging to be allowed to get out. With some difficulty the hall and corridors leading from the marshal's office to the court room were cleared, and the examination of the witness was resumed. The witness was convinced at the time of Guiteau's visit to her that he was insane, and should be put in an insane asylum.

Frequent objections were raised by the counsel or prosecution to the character of the questions propounded by Mr. Scoville, and a continuous discussion ensued between counsel upon the admissability of certain evidences. Mrs. Scoville's examination in chief was concluded at 11 o'clock. At the request of Mr. Scoville the cross-examination was postponed to allow George P. Burroughs, of Chicago, to testify, as he desired to leave the city to-day. He boarded with Scoville at the time of Guiteau's visit in 1878, and made up his mind that the prisoner was either a fool or crazy. He was satisfied that Guiteau was unsound in his intellect.

There was a brief interval before the appearance of the next witness, and Guiteau took advantage of the opportunity, and broke out with, "I desire to tell all these crank newspaper men that I appear here as my own counsel. That is my answer to all the silly stuff they have been delivering themselves of for some days past. Some of these newspaper men have gone crazy. I appear here in part as my own counsel, as I have a right to, under the law and constitution of America."

No effort was made to check Guiteau, and no notice whatever of the interruption was taken by the court. How to silence the prisoner and put a stop to his annoying interruptions has been a serious question with Judge Cox, who has more than once consulted his associates upon the subject. To remove the prisoner from the court room, and proceed with the trial in his absence, as was at first intimated by the court, might be done, and would deprive him of an undoubted constitutional right to confront the witness against him, while to gag him, as Judge Cox Saturday threatened to do, would be open to the objections that it would serve as a constant reminder to the jury, and exert perhaps an undue influence upon their minds. The situation seems to be an anxious one. As long as the prisoner insists upon acting as his own counsel, the court cannot well deny him the right without admitting his insanity as a bar to its exercise. The court cannot well punish him for contempt, as he is already in confinement. The members of the district bar deprecate the severe strictures which have been made upon Judge Cox's failure to adopt some rigorous measures, but are unable to suggest any legal way out of the embarrassment.

John W. Guiteau, brother of the prisoner, was then examined, and the court took a recess.

After the recess John W. Guiteau again took the stand and Mr. Davidge proceeded with his cross-examination. The witness said he had always understood that his uncle, Abraham, had been intemperate and dissolute. He had been told by his father, and had seen the record to that effect, that his uncle, Francis Guiteau, had died in the insane asylum. The cause of insanity, according to the record, appeared to be mortification at having fought a sham duel. He always understood that his cousin, Aliby Maynard, was demented, and his cousin, Granville Parker, was, he had been told, insane. He had never heard of any other cases of insanity in his family.

When Mr. Davidge finished his cross-examination, Mr. Scoville asked witness if he had any feeling against having insanity in his family.

The prosecution objected to this question, and the objection was sustained.

Mr. Scoville then proceeded to examine the witness to show that since leaving his father, when a young man, he had only seen his father at rare intervals.

Mr. Scoville asked, "What is your opinion now as to your father's sanity?"

"I think he was sane," said the witness promptly.

"Do you say that, including in making up your judgment, the testimony that has been heard here?"

The court prevented the witness from answering, saying that he could only answer as to facts that had come under his own knowledge.

"So far as to any facts that I know he was always sane," said the witness.

Being asked by Mr. Scoville to explain what he meant by saying that his brother was under the influence of a demon, said that he and his father believed there were two forces in this world —one under Satan or the devil and the other under Jesus Christ, and these two forces were at war, and at present Satan had to a great extent the dominion over the world. At some time in his brother's life he had allowed his nature to gain such a control over him that he was under the control of the devil. This was what he meant when he said he believed his brother was responsible before God, though he might not be responsible before the human law.

"You've got that thing wrong side up, my friend," said the prisoner, sharply.

"Pearhaps I have," replied the witness.

"Very poor theology," said the prisoner, "and a very poor position for you to take."

Speaking of the prisoner's infancy, the witness said he remembered his father offering him ten cents to keep still ten minutes, and that the prisoner did not get the money.

When Mr. Guiteau was excused from the stand, Mr. Scoville called Mrs. Augustus Parker, of Chicago. The witness testified to the insanity of her deceased husband, Augustus Granville Parker, who had been insane three years in Elgin asylum before he died. Her husband was a cousin to the prisoner. The prisoner had come to her house in Chicago, after her husband was taken insane, but had ceased his visit at her request, because he wanted to educate her little daughter in order to marry her.

Mr. Scoville asked if there was anything peculiar about Guiteau's attentions to her daughter that attracted her attention.

The prosecution objected to this question.

Mr. Scoville said he proposed to show that he was carrying on insane attentions to this girl of 14. After some discussion the question was put in another form, and the witness said: "He fell desperately in love with my daughter, and wanted to educate her and marry her."

"Fell desperately in love with her," said Davidge slowly, "and wanted to educate her and marry her. Very common form of insanity," a sally which called out a burst of laughter.

"A very handsome girl, too, judge," added the prisoner.

The witness said she formed the opinion that the prisoner was crazy, and she thought so 10 or 11 years ago when she first saw him.

The prisoner here spoke to explain his relations with the family. "They were very poor and I used to go down there and give them money. They seemed to appreciate that well enough. Incidentally I become somewhat interested in the daughter. She was very pretty and smart. She was altogether too young for me, however."

The witness, on cross-examination, said her husband used to drink, but she never saw him intoxicated. She did not know that that had anything to do with his insanity.

Fernando Jones, a middle aged gentleman, testified to an acquaintance with the prisoner in Chicago. The witness was trustee of an insane asylum at Jacksonville, for 4 years, and visited the asylum frequently. As supervisor of the city of Chicago, he had also to deal with insane persons. The witness, from the prisoner's acts and words, had formed the opinion that he was of unsound mind.

When Jones left the stand Mr. Scoville said: "The prisoner may be sworn."

The prisoner, attended by his guards, thereupon took the stand, and by permission of the court sat down. The prisoner then identified a number of letters written by him to his father and others, heretofore produced in court by Mr. Scoville. The prisoner while on the stand sat well back, as far out of sight as possible. He spoke very distinctly, and seemed to enjoy the change in his situation very much.

At 3 o'clock the court adjourned.

The prisoner was taken from the stand to his room, and soon afterwards returned to jail.

An Expert's Views.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—Dr. Beckwith, founder of the Cincinnati sanitarium, a private hospital for the insane, was met by your correspondent today as he was about to take the train for New York, preparatory to embarking for Europe.

"Have you seen Guiteau lately, and if so, what do you think of him?" was asked.

"I looked into the court room yesterday," replied the doctor, "and I think his mind is giving away. I have thought all the time he was insane, and I think he is becoming an imbecile under the strain of the trial. That is the impression he makes upon me. Judging from his appearance, based upon the experience with this kind of people for twenty-five years, I predict that before the trial is over he will break down and become an idiot from softening of the brain."

"When did you first see him, doctor?"

"A few days before the shooting. I was at the Riggs house, where I had been stopping for some weeks, when one morning the colored waiter said to me: 'Oh, doctor, look at that man over there; he is acting very queer; he has been eating ever so long; he has asked for one cup of tea after another till I think I have brought him fourteen. Now he has changed to coffee and I have given him four cups. What is the matter with him?' I looked at the man and it was Guiteau, although I did not know at that time who he was. Of course I watched him a few minutes, and then told the waiter, who was rather excited about it, that he was insane. His appearance clearly indicated his insanity to me."

"What is there in his appearance now that leads you to think he is idiotic?"

"The expression of the eye and the condition of the skin and his actions. I will guarantee that his hand is cold and clammy if you take it."

The doctor then proceeded to criticise the form of trial adopted. He thought that instead of trying the man for murder with insanity as a defense the question of sanity ought to have been settled first before a proper tribunal. He said anyone who knew anything about the subject would know that an ordinary jury of men who had never given the subject study was not a competent tribunal to settle the question. Twelve experts from the leading insane asylums should have been summoned to hear the testimony on the matter of insanity and to have made an examination of the prisoner in quiet. Under such circumstances an intelligent decision could have been arrived at. He could not see how twelve unscientific men could do so, and had little faith in a satisfactory result at the close of the present trial.

CASH ON HAND.

What the Director of the Mint Has to Say about Our Resources.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—The annual report of the director of the United States mint for the year ending June 30th, 1881, has been submitted to the secretary of the treasury. It contains, in addition to the customary detailed statements of the operations of the mint and assays office, much valuable information regarding the production of precious metals in the United States and foreign countries, and a comparison of the metalic and paper circulation for a series of fifty-six years. The gold and silver received and operated upon by all the mints and assay office, exceeding by more than 50 million the receipts of any previous year, amounted to in round numbers $226,000,000, of which $193,000,000 was gold and $33,000,000 in silver. This large increase, Director Burchard says, was due to a continued influx of gold from abroad, over $95,000,000 deposited being from that source alone. The coinage facilities of the mint have been tested to the fullest extent in converting bullion into coin. The gold coinage of the year amounted to $79,000,000, and that of silver to $40,000,000—about $28,000,000 of which was standard silver dollars; of the coinage of silver dollars during the year 17,706,924 were distributed. The total coinage of silver dollars, since the passage of the act for their coinage up to November 1st, was $101,672,175, of which 34 million are in active circulation, 59 million held by the treasury for the paying of outstanding silver certificates, and about eight millions held by the treasury for ordinary disbursement. From the data received at the mint bureau the director estimates that the production of the United States during the last fiscal year to have been, of gold $36,500,000, and of silver $42,100,000, a total of $78,600,000.

Inquiries inaugurated regarding the annual consumption of gold and silver in the arts and manufactures show a consumption by manufacturers of jewelry and other articles amounting to $10,000,000 in gold, and nearly $3,500,000 in silver, during the year. The director estimates on June 30 last that the gold coin circulation in the United States amounted to $440,000,000, and silver $171,500,000.

Referring to the labors of the International monetary conference at Paris in April, he says, in view of the failure of the conference to agree on any practical measure, and while awaiting its future action, it is a question for our serious and early consideration whether it is not desirable to stop the further coinage of silver until, by international agreement and effective legislation, the unlimited coinage of silver and gold at a common fixed ratio shall have been authorized by the principal commercial nations of Europe and America.

From data received the director estimates the world's production of gold for the calendar year of 1881 at $107,000,000 and of silver at $87,500,000. The consumption of the world in ornamentation, manufactories and arts for the same period is estimated at $75,000,000 of gold and $35,000,000 of silver. The estimated circulation of the principal countries of the world is placed at $2,331,000,000. Full legal tenders—silver, $2,115,000,000; limited tender—silver, $423,000,000; total specie, $5,759,000,000; paper, $3,644,000,000.

KASSON, KEIFER AND HISCOCK

All Standing in a Row Pleading for Votes.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—A large number of additional arrivals of congressmen having been recorded to-day, the canvass for the speakership has increased in activity, but less than half of the republican members of the next house are now in Washington, and the prospects of the rival candidates are as yet mere matters of assertion and conjecture. Very confident claims of assured majorities in the caucus are, nevertheless, put forth by the supporters respectively of Messrs. Kasson, Keifer, and Hiscock, and it is argued by the friends of Representatives Reed, Dunnell, Orth, Henderson, and Barrow, that each of these gentlemen is likely to carry of the prize eventually, as the result of a deadlock among the three candidates most prominently named. The caucus choice for the position of clerk of the house will, it is conceded, lie between ex-clerk Edward McPherson, of Pennsylvania, and ex-Congressman Rainey, of South Carolina, with the chances largely in favor of the former. Among the candidates for sergeant-at-arms is James R. Davies, of New York, who has established his headquarters at Willard's hotel. Mr. Davies waives all claims to recognition in the event of Mr. Hiscock's election as speaker, and is making his canvass with the understanding that he shall withdraw if Mr. Hiscock succeeds. If the speakership is otherwise disposed of Mr. Davies will press his claim for sergeant-at-arms, and hopes to bring sufficient influence to bear to secure his nomination in caucus.

INSULAR INCIDENTS.

JAMES BRADLEY, an extensive lumber, Louisville, dealer, has failed. Liabilities, $150,000.

AT a public meeting yesterday at the Hebrew orphan asylum, New York, it was resolved to take measures for the formation of a society to afford aid to Jewish immigrants on their arrival, and discourage the influx of paupers.

THE central organization of united trade and labor unions of New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City passed resolutions to-day expressing their unqualified approval of the manifesto of "no rent for land" because it was the gift of the Creator to his creatures.

FORREST WINEMILLER, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and John L. High, of Reading, students at Eastman's college, Poughkeepsie, came to town Saturday, and after seeing the city retired to a room in the hotel. During the night Winemiller's pistol was discharged and he was shot, probably, fatally.

YESTERDAY evening the horses attached to a steam fire engine, in Philadelphia, ran away and rushed into the side of a street car on Fourth street, killing two young men, names unknown, who were standing on the back platform. The car was crowded at the time, and great consternation prevailed among the passengers, and several others were slightly hurt.

A SPECIAL from San Antonio says that the stage between San Antonio and Corpus Christi was stopped near Oakville, Friday night, by two masked men, who rifled the mail of everything valuable. One of the highwaymen is described as being tall and the other short. They are thought to be the same men who robbed the stage near Laredo recently.

THE New Orleans Democrat's Little Rock special says: At Oil Trough, Independence county, Henry Ladd, a leading citizen, had some difficulty with his wife, originating in a disagreement about a passage in the Bible. After a bitter altercation Ladd drew a pistol and shot her through the body. He tried to kill himself, but was prevented by his neighbors and jailed. Mrs. Ladd will die.

MULLIKEN'S MUDDLE.

HE THINKS GIBSON WAS A LITTLE PREMATURE,

Because the Latter Let the Public Into the Secrets of the Star Route Thieves—A Discussion that Savors More of Red Tape than a Desire to Follow up the Indictments.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—The chief clerk of the department of justice has criticised A. M. Gibson's right to the title of "special assistant attorney of the United States," signed to his recently published report concerning star route irregularities, and Gibson has written to Acting-Attorney-General Phillips setting forth the manner in which he was engaged to investigate the star route and the authority under which he acted. He says that he was employed on April 22 last after a conference held on the preceding evening at Mr. MacVeagh's house, at which Mr. MacVeagh, Postmaster General James and Inspector Woodward were present. Mr. Gibson says: "I was retained as the representative of the department of justice. I have from the date of my employment by the attorney general as special assistant attorney been recognized as such by him, by the postmaster general, by the other special assistant attorneys employed by him and by all others officially connected with the star route cases." The copy of the report transmitted on the 23d instant, was placed in type by order of the postmaster-general, to whom a copy was given. A number of corrections which Colonel Bliss suggested were made and the revised proof given him. "He then informed me," Mr. Gibson says, "that he not only indorsed the report but would stand behind it." Mr. Gibson closes by remarking that he considers the action of the chief clerk in questioning his title of special assistant attorney an unwarrantable interference and asks that if Mr. MacVeagh agrees with his statement of facts that the acting attorney general will direct the chief clerk "to make record of my employment as special assistant attorney for the United States." Acting Attorney-General Phillips upholds the chief clerk in his reply, saying that "it was his duty to call your attention to the title assumed by you, which is justified by nothing upon his records and which can be justified in no other way. There is neither commission nor oath of office upon the files of this department, and both are necessary to the creation of an assistant attorney of the United States. Upon this state of facts I must assume that you have misunderstood the character of the agency which you have received from Attorney-General MacVeagh." Mr. Phillips further says that the report should have been made to him in writing and that he has no official knowledge of the printed report.

THE WORLD ABROAD.

The Wild Times in Ireland—The Confession of Lefroy

LONDON, November 28.—Lord Hartington, in a speech at Blackburn, said: "It must be recollected, in justice to the sub commissioners under the land act, that their work is extremely difficult. It is impossible for the public, without a full report of the circumstances in every case, to judge whether the commissioners are open to the charges made against them. As far as can be discovered from the imperfect reports of the cases already decided, they have been in the main cases of rack-renting, such as made necessary the land act. It would be well for those who talk so freely of compensation to remember that it is a very large question. If it be necessary to compensate landlords, whose back rents have been reduced, would it not be equally necessary to compensate good landlords?" The speaker concluded: "Disappointment doubtless exists widely concerning the results of the various efforts recently made to restore peace to Ireland, but the government will continue to remember all the trouble is not due to the perverseness of the Irish. England, in past years, has committed even greater mistakes, which have not yet been altogether expiated. Therefore, the government is bound to act with inexhaustible patience as well as unswerving firmness."

Sir William V. Harcourt, home secretary speaking at Derby, declared that the ministers would not swerve a single hair's breadth from the path considered necessary for the interests of the kingdom, whether they gained or lost the Irish vote.

A Dublin dispatch says that the new legal subcommissioners under the land act are Foley, Queen's counsel, Roche and Wiley. The landlords are making strong representations to the government in favor of pushing the work under the act rapidly, as they generally believe that during the periods of litigation no rents will be paid. The proceedings at the forthcoming assizes are anticipated with extraordinary interest. It is reported the crown counsel has been instructed to put forward early all cases of agrarian crime in which the evidence is perfectly clear, and that in the event of acquittals or disagreements in those cases, the crown counsel are to apply for an adjournment of the assizes, pending legislation which would take the form of the appointment of a tribunal, consisting of the chairman of the quarter session and three stipendiary magistrates, with full power to try summarily all offenses, except murder.

A Dublin special says that at a meeting to-day John Daly, member of parliament for Cork city, presiding, $100 was subscribed towards the maintenance of the imprisoned suspects.

County Limerick continues to be very disturbed. The police are searching for arms.

The houses of persons who had paid their rents were wilfully burned at Knockash, near Loughreux, county Galway, last evening. Mr. Batterfield, land league organizer for the counties Down and Armagh, was arrested to-day at Lewes.

Archbishop Croke, of Cashel, and Rev. Mr. Cantwell, both subscribed to and written energetically in advocacy of a national fund for the support of the imprisoned "suspects."

The Dublin correspondent of the Times says that some more effective means must be found to restore order, unless the government is prepared to let the country drift into absolute anarchy and revolution. Accounts received daily of outrages in various districts do not fully represent the truth. In the county Clare alone seven houses were fired into last week, of which outrages no reports have been published. Resistance to the payment of rent has not in the least abated, but has rather increased.

The Cork correspondent of the Times says a party of armed men entered the house of a woman named Henane, near Histowell, county Kerry, for the purpose of shooting her, because she had given information to the police. The children threw themselves upon their mother in terror, and one of them received a charge of shot in its legs. The party then left the house, after making the mother swear, under threat of death, not to divulge the occurrence.

Six persons have been arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the outrage.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, November 28.—A memorial will be presented to the president of the Geological society today asking the society to urge the government to dispatch an expedition to the Arctic ocean for the relief of Leigh Smith. The Times says: "While we shall be far from discouraging the application which the colonial office is stated to be making to the Hudson Bay company to prosecute the inquiries in regard to the white men seen by the Esquimaux near McKenzie river, there is only too much reason to fear the Jeannette with her brave crew must be added to the list of vessels which have perished in the Arctic."

The Central News states that Lefroy has fully confessed the murder of Mr. Gold, and also of Lieutenant Roper, who was murdered in Chatham barracks some time ago.

The coroner's officer has already summoned a jury, which will have to certify to the death of Lefroy, who is to be executed to-morrow, for the murder of Gold. It is doubted whether Sir Wm. Harcourt, home secretary, will alter his decision not to interfere with the execution of the sentence, which decision was announced previous to Lefroy's confession that he murdered Lieutenant Roper. A strong impression exists that the confession was merely made to obtain delay.

LATER—Arthur Lefroy has retracted his confession relative to the murder of Lieutenant Roper, and he declares that the confession was made during a fit of hallucination. At the home office it was stated this afternoon that the decision of Sir William Harcourt to allow the execution of Lefroy to-morrow to proceed is unaltered.

Arthur Lefroy's solicitor has written a letter to Sir William Harcourt, home secretary, stating that Lefroy had confessed the murder of Gold, and of Lieut. Roper, and asking him to grant an immediate interview, so as to allow him to fully explain Lefroy's statements, which convince the solicitor that Lefroy is the victim of a homicidal mania.

The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the British grain trade for the past week, says that owing to the mild weather the young wheat grows very fast. Sowing is rapidly pushing forward in Scotland. The week's deliveries have been of inferior quality. It is estimated that about half of the wheat crop of 1881, has been already marketed. The trade is almost at a standstill on account of the millers rejecting inferior samples. A reduction is generally necessary to effect sales. Foreign was unusually depressed throughout the week. The supply has been liberal. The supply of Indian low grades at Liverpool has rather depressed the sales of California sorts. The off coast trade was inanimate. Of seven cargoes four were sold. The forward market was dull and cheaper. The floating bulk has considerably increased, about half being American. Of the flour all but the best grades are cheapest, and meet with tedious sales. For foreign, owing to the moderate supply, rates were maintained. Sales, however, were dull and slow. Barley and oats were in dull inquiry and cheaper. Foreign barley is unchanged. Trade has not improved. Foreign oats were exceedingly dull and decidedly weaker, although the supply was small. Maize was generally weaker. Mixed American closed 3@6d cheaper in London and Liverpool. Sales of English wheat during the week were 52,441 quarters at 45s, 4d per quarter against 46,011 quarters at 44s, 5d per quarter during the corresponding week last year.

A heavy gale prevailed throughout the kingdom on Saturday and Sunday, doing serious damage to property, and nearly the whole of the new pier at Folkstone was washed away. There were many wrecks on parts of the coast.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, November 28.—At a parliamentary dinner, to-day, Bismarck maintained that the recent elections should by no means be taken as a condemnation of the policy of the government. As reckoning by the number of votes polled, the conservatives alone of the principal political parties scored a substantial increase as compared with the result of the elections of 1878. This year, the conservatives polled 870,258 votes against 749,494 in 1878.

The French ministry has notified the German government of the appointment of Baron de Courcelas, French ambassador at Berlin. The government has approved the appointment.

Baron Von Steuben expresses himself as highly satisfied with the hearty welcome accorded him in America.

A Berlin dispatch to the Times says that Emperor William is recovering. His condition is most favorable, he being now free from pain.

In the reichstag to-day a debate was commenced on the project for the incorporation of Hamburg in the Zollverein. Herr Bitter, minister of finance, said negotiations with Bremen for the same object would now proceed speedily. He denied that the government had exercised any undue pressure on Hamburg.

Prince Bismarck said the question as to whether the amount to be contributed to Hamburg by the empire was too high was open to argument, but he probably thought it moderate. The point involved in the question of incorporation was the carrying out of the constitutional provisions. In this he would not allow himself to be hindered. He would endeavor, by every justifiable means, as long as he was compelled to retain office to consolidate the empire. Germany having removed the danger of European complications by establishing amicable relations, he could not shut his eyes to internal questions. He said he was astonished that Germany was still backward in the aspirations for unity. Those who thought he expected gratitude judged falsely. Thanks were due to the emperor and to the army for German unity. Subsequently, replying to Herr Lasker (liberal), Prince Bismarck said: "You demand me to sacrifice my convictions. All parties have combatted me in the different phases of my efforts for unity. I could not accept the responsibility of the state of things sought to be removed by the present measure. If you do not wish all my plans, reject them, but I will not accept the responsibility of their non-execution."

The emperor took a drive to day. He had a conference with Prince Bismarck yesterday.

SPAIN.

LONDON, November 28.—The Madrid correspondent of the Times says that he has reason to believe that Lord Lyons, British ambassador to France, assured the late French cabinet, on behalf of both England and Spain, that they could not view the entry of French troops into Morocco as benevolently as they had their entry into Tunis. This is proof of a complete understanding between England and Spain, which Mr. Morier, British ambassador to Spain, will doubtless do his utmost to cement. He had a long interview with Senor Armijo, minister of foreign affairs, Friday.

BRAZIL.

LONDON, November 28.—Advices from Rio Janeiro report that the elections in Brazil resulted 72 liberals and 50 conservatives. The minister of foreign affairs and the minister of the interior are among the defeated candidates. Both resigned their portfolios, which have been temporary allotted to other ministers until the chamber of deputies meet.

The supreme tribunal annulled the judgment delivered against the claim of slaves in Morro Velso mine to freedom, twenty years ago, and ordered wages paid them from that time.

NOTES IN GENERAL.

LONDON, November 28.—A roundabout report has reached Beechaven that the lighthouse on Calf rock, 10 miles from Bantry bay, has been washed away and that six inmates have perished. Efforts are being made to ascertain whether the report is true or not.

The dock-yard church, at Sheerness, was burned to-day. Nine persons were injured.

Eleven deaths occur daily from cholera at Jeddah and twenty-two at Mecca.

A Paris correspondent of the Times says that M. Firman has accepted the governorship of Algeria on terms which reduce it to a mere prefecture. He will not have command of the army. He is bound hand and foot to the home office, of which he will be simply the executor.

The Roumanian government has renewed for a year the prohibition of the importation of pork from the United States and several European countries.

LONDON, November 28.—[Special.]—A dispatch from Tunis to the Daily News says: M. Roostan, French minister here, declares he shall ultimately ask to be transferred to another post. There is talk of a Tunisian cabinet, to be composed of General Lambert, minister of war and of foreign affairs, and M. de Pienne, minister of finance. This rumor is thrown out as a feeler.

ST. PETERSBURG, November 28.—The Official Messenger announces that the would be assassin of General Tcherevine is a nobleman, Nicolai Sankowsky, from the government of Grodno. He arrived in St. Petersburg a few days ago, accompanied by a person named Melnikoff, who has been arrested as an accessory. Sankowsky is a Catholic, 28 years old. He states that, having become poor by dissipation, he meditated suicide, when he met Melnikoff, who persuaded him to commit a political murder. Sandowsky was a volunteer during the rising in Hersegovia, and formerly kept a restaurant.

Melnikoff is suspected to be an important member of the nihilist committee.

BERLIN, November 28.—[Special]—The National Zeitung firmly insists upon the truth of the report that the pope has requested the German government to permit him to establish the papal see at Fulda.

PITY THE PITTED

And Save the Unpitted from the Foul Contagion.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—In consequence of the alarm caused in some portions of the country by the reported spreading of small-pox, Acting Postmaster-General Hatton has to-day issued the following order:

"Where the health officers of a village, town or city, by official action, declare that the mail matter from any other village, city or town is liable to communicate contagious disease which at the time is prevailing in the place whose mail it is thus sought to quarantine, and such health officers shall furnish to the postmaster a certified copy of such declaration, it shall be the duty of the said postmaster to refuse to accept said mail matter from any carrier or mail messenger, and he shall furnish said carrier or mail messenger with a copy of said declaration, to be delivered by him to the office thus quarantined, with the mail matter refused, and the facts shall be at once reported to the first assistant postmaster general. In the absence of board of health officers, the declaration of the regular county or city medical society may be accepted, and failing such organization, the opinions of such physicians as the postmaster may regard as most reliable may be acted upon. The mail returned shall be held until the prohibition is removed, and shall, after being properly fumigated under the direction of the medical authorities, be forwarded to the place of original destination."

Found Murdered.

NEW ORLEANS, November 28.—An Aberdeen, Miss., special says: "On Saturday four men with a wagon passed through here stating that they were from the Alabama line, and were going to Arkansas. They camped three miles west of here, and on Sunday evening some persons passing found them lying on mattresses covered with quilts, and each with his head slit open as though with an ax. No evidence of robbery was visible. Officers have left for the scene of the murder."

The National Tariff Convention.

NEW YORK, November 28.—A number of delegates to the national tariff convention to be held here Tuesday and Wednesday have already arrived in the city. It is positively announced that Hon. William D. Kelly, of Philadelphia, will address the convention on Tuesday. It is expected that 600 delegates will be present.

A MYSTERY THICKENS

AS THE FACTS COME TO THE LIGHT OF DAY.

The Arrest of a Couple of Grave-Robbers Leads to the Discovery that a Fraudulent Funeral had been Used to Cloak up a Mysterious Murder—Arrest of the Parties, Etc,

BUFFALO, N. Y., November 28.—There were further developments to-day, but only of a meager and unsatisfactory character, in the mysterious grave robbery case of November 15. A body was exhumed, placed in a bag, hid under a clump of bushes in the park, and an attempt was made to remove it by three men, with a horse and buggy, when they were fired upon by cemetery employes and escaped, leaving their conveyance and also the body. The case was at first supposed to arise out of "religious differences," and that the body exhumed, supposed to be that of Edward G. Burnham, formerly of Lancaster, twenty-eight years old, was to be taken to another cemetery to satisfy his friends. When it was found, however, that the body was that of an old man evidently over 60 years of age, the case assumed a new phase and was thought to be a conspiracy to defraud life insurance companies. The police have been working on the matter very quietly. A few days after the developments related in the above Orin C. Thomas, residing in Babcock street, East Buffalo, was arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the case. He made no admission, and his counsel succeeded in getting him brought before the police court, when he was discharged from custody. It was ascertained that Burnham had occupied a part of the house of Thomas, and the funeral took place from there. A postmortem examination showed that the body was full of strychnine and that death must, in all probability, have been caused by poisoning.

This morning about 6:30 Thomas was again arrested at his residence by Detective Donovan, this time on a charge of murder. About noon he was taken before Police Justice King and arraigned on a deposition made by the detective, which sets forth he has good reason to believe murder has been committed and that Thomas is an accomplice in the crime. The prisoner was ready for examination but the prosecution were not, and he was committed to jail until next Wednesday, when a hearing will be had. He is 28 years of age, son of the late Horace Thomas, well known as a restaurant and hotel keeper for many years. Whatever else is know about the case by the authorities will not be divulged at this time. The arrest, however, was warranted by facts in the possession of the police, and will probably lead to new and startling developments, which will be awaited with interest. This point is undoubtedly established: The body buried as that of Edward G. Burnham was not his but that of an unknown man who had been poisoned. The questions of the exact motive for this substitution and for the exhumation of the corpse remain to be elucidated. The identity of the dead man has not been discovered, while Burnham is still missing, as well as one Parker, of Lancaster, in this county, an undertaker, who is believed to have been directly connected with the disinterment and attempt to steal the body. It is promised that during the coming week all the facts will be disclosed.

OLD AUNT SALLIE

Makes a Brave Start on Her Second Century and Dies.

KINGSTON, N. Y., November 28.—The centenarian of Ulster county has passed away. Mrs. Sarah E. Pressler, familiarly known over a wide extent of country as "old Aunt Sallie," died at the residence of her son, Isaac Pressler, in the town of Plattskill on Thursday last, at the age of 100 years, 7 months and 21 days. Her hundredth birthday was celebrated in March last in presence of a large company of people, and sketches of her life were then published far and wide. A lady of Hartford, Conn., 102 years old, had her attention directed to this account of "old Aunt Sallie's" life and dictated a long letter to her, and since that time a friendly correspondence has been kept up between the centenarians.

"Old Aunt Sallie" was born in the town of Newburg, Orange county, near the little hamlet known as Fostertown, and not far from the line dividing Ulster and Orange counties. Her father, John Ennist, was one of the earliest settlers of the county. While yet young Sarah E. Ennist married Anthony Pressler, a young pioneer, of Plattskill. They built a rude cabin in the forest, as it then was, and soon after settled down in their Plattskill home. They succeeded in clearing a fine farm after a few years, and this has been the home of the family ever since. Out of a large family of children resulting from this union two sons and two daughters still survive, and live in the vicinity of the old home. Anthony Pressler is 84, Mrs. Hedges 76, Isaac R. Pressler 69, Mrs. Harris 64. Numerous members of the family, representing four generations, are left to mourn the old grandmother's death. Nearly all are farmers and well to do. Until within a few months the old lady's health was uniformly good and most of her faculties were unimpaired. She has led an active, industrious life, being much in the open air and occupying herself with some useful employment to the last year of her life. Many a little grandchild will miss the deft fingers of old Grandma Pressler as she plied them at her knitting for some little feet and hands in her large family circle. She was a devout Methodist, and passed away peacefully, surrounded by her family. She was cheerful and bright to the very last.

AN INTERESTING DISCUSSION

At the Meeting of the National Association of Exhibitors Last Night.

The regular weekly meeting of the National association of exhibitors was held in the senate chamber at the capitol last night. In the absence of President Smith, Mr. Dederich, of New York, presided. The meeting was exceedingly interesting, and a number of interesting addresses were made on the resources of the south.

Mr. H. C. Caulkins, agent of the Mississippi mills at Wesson, Mississippi, made a very interesting talk, principally on the resources of Alabama. He, however, had much to say in general terms of the resources of the southern country and the opportunities for profitable investment in manufacturing. He spoke in enthusiastic terms of the rich iron and coal fields of Alabama, and predicted a great future for that section.

At the conclusion of Mr. Caulkins's remarks Mr. Voyle, of Florida, was called on, and spoke on behalf of his state. He said:

The inducements which Florida has to offer are numerous. To the manufacturer she opens a field almost unentered, and unprecedented in its variety and novelty. Variety in this, that the number of its unused products is greater than that of any other state. Novel, in that they are new, requiring new inventions, and there are no old prejudices to combat. The machinery has to be devised to profitably take our products and prepare them for use. The world is searched to find certain material sometimes, and that material is at length found in abundance in Florida. Millions are expended in importing material for some special use—paper stock for instance. An inexhaustible supply of better quality than the imported article lies alongside the water to use in working it up in Florida. Great expense is gone to to add useless material to costly stock to give weight and nothing more to the paper, while at less expense true stock might be obtained in Florida. The finest wood invites the mechanic to produce therefrom specimens of his skill in endless variety. The phosphatic rocks invite the man of commercial manures to put his capital there where but little digging and expense is required to develop a mine of wealth. Iron ores rich in manganese await the opportunity of yielding a handsome return for money invested. Numerous products that are imported at high tariff rates await only the machinery to work them, and Florida invites investors to come there and see and critically examine our products and devise such machinery as will help to utilize and turn into money the numerous now unused sources for supplying articles that are in commercial demand that would yield a handsome return. Come and win this success. We say come, and we mean come. Don't continue your old error of sitting down in your New England homes to devise machinery to be used under circumstances you never saw and know nothing about. Come and see, come and stay under skies that are oftener clear than cloudy, where

"Rivulets ring like birds in spring
And flowers arose like sweet girls' eyes;"

where your six or seven months rest is distributed over the entire twelve; where the necessity for habitual hurry and tear does not exist; where you can enjoy the choicest fruits of earth among people who offer the heartiest of welcomes to every one who would be welcome in the place from whence he comes.

Mr. Voyle was followed by Mr. Greenlief, of Pennsylvania, in a short speech, in which he advocated letting well enough alone. He said that the south was a good country, but that well-fixed folks everywhere should not move.

Mr. Davis, of Cincinnati, made a short but interesting address in which he spoke of the relative attractions of the several southern states. He put Mississippi down as the most fertile of southern states.

He was followed by Judge Dusinberre, of New York, who spoke of the attractions of Kansas. His address was full of interest.

Mr. Morgan, of Georgia, spoke of the general attractions of the south, particularly as to the healthfulness of the section.

Colonel William T. Nichols, of Chicago, was invited to address the association, and responded to the call. He spoke of the gravity of the question under discussion, and thought that the matter should be well considered before the people of the north were advised to move to the south. He said that all matters like migration would settle themselves. His speech was a careful and able one, and was well received.

This speech closed the discussion, after which the following resolution, introduced by Mr. Voyle, was adopted:

Resolved, That at the next meeting there be no special subject for discussion, but that every member be invited to interest the association to the best of his ability.

The association then adjourned to meet in the senate chamber next Thursday night.

Convention Green Line Railroads.

A meeting of the Green Line executive committee, consisting of Virgil Powers chairman; W. Rogers, superintendent Central; J. B. Peck, superintendent South Carolina railroad; R. A. Anderson, general freight agent Western and Atlantic railroad; George R. Konx, general freight agent Nashville and Chattanooga and St Louis railroad; J. M. Culp general freight agent Louisville and Nashville and Great Southern railroad; L. P. Grant, president Atlanta and West Point railroad; T. S. Dovant, general freight agent Memphis and Charleston railroad; G. J. Foreacre, general manager Atlanta and Charlotte AirLine railroad; E. R. Dorsey, general freight agent Georgia railroad; R. C. Robeson, general agent, and T. E. Walker, secretary, will be held at the Green Line office in this city, November 30th, at 3 o'clock, p.m. They will meet the representatives of the leading roads in the south and southeast and west, to consider the prompt movement of cars and such business as appertains to them, and while here will examine the merits of the exposition.

Destruction to the Cotton Crop.

CHARLESTON, S. C., November 28.—The News and Courier says: "Trustworthy accounts from all sections of the state concur as to the blighting effect of the hard freeze of last Friday morning in the cotton fields. The unusual and protracted mild weather of the last six weeks had allowed a vigorous growth, encouraging many planters to hope that, with a fortnight more of moderate weather, the crop might be secured, which would in some measure make up for the serious loss occasioned by the drouth of last summer, but the sudden change in the temperature on Friday has put an end to these sanguine anticipations even on the sea island, where the cold was least severe. The young bolls all present a scalded appearance, and the vitality of the plant has entirely ceased. In the interior of the state, likewise, the promise of a crop has everywhere been killed, as the frost seems to have been general throughout the cotton region. It is hardly likely that there will be any further addition to the yield of this year's crop of the state."

The Garfield Eulogies.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—The programme for the memorial services over the late President Garfield has been nearly arranged, and will be exceedingly simple. Eulogistic addresses will be delivered in the two houses of congress by two representatives and two senators. Senator Sherman will probably be one of the senators and Randolph Tucker one of the representatives. Mrs. Harrison Glazier, at present in the interior department, who is from Bedford, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, and a graduate of Hiram college, is writing a poem to be read on that occasion in the house by Hon. A. H. Pettibone, of Tennessee, a former Cuyahoga county man and a graduate of Hiram. Appropriate music will be interspersed and an adjournment out of respect to the memory of the late president will be taken. The memorial exercises will take place as soon after the organization of the house as possible.

From New Orleans to San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 28.—A Tucson dispatch says: A. N. Towne, superintendent of the Southern Pacific railroad, J. C. Stubbs, W. T. H. Goodman, Arthur Brown, W. G. Curtis, and Messrs. Welch and Vogel, passed here yesterday, en route to El Paso, where they will meet General-Manager Hoxie and the officers of the Texas Pacific, and superintendent Wheeler and the officers of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad for a business conference. The Southern Pacific railroad and the Texas Pacific will unite on Tuesday or Wednesday. Through trains from San Francisco to New Orleans will probably commence running on the 15th prox., and regular through business will be established before the end of thirty days.

Kansas Bank Failure.

HUNNEWELL, Ks., November 28.—The excitement attending the suspension of the Danford bank at this place, culminated, to day, in the gathering of a great crowd of creditors at the bank. Mr. Bowers, the cashier, promptly turned over the money, notes, etc., to the creditors, and satisfied all who came. It is not yet known how heavy the losses will be. It is reported that Colonel Danford, president of the chain of banks here and at Caldwell, Osage and Carbondale, has been arrested at Wichita, and that Mr. Smith, cashier of the Caldwell bank, has also been arrested, but nothing definite is known.

A Clergyman Captures a Burglar.

HARTFORD, Conn., November 28.—Dr. W. L. Gage, of the Pearl street congregational church, entered his house about 8 o'clock this evening, and found a burglar whom he clinched and struggled with. The burglar endeavored to use a pistol. The struggle continued in the hall and into the street, when the burglar was thrown down and held by the muscular clergyman until help arrived.

Attempt to Poison a Canadian Clergyman.

OTTAWA, November 28.—A determined attempt was made a few days ago on the life of Rev. Dr. Mann, of Pakenham, by a servant who mixed Parisgreen with his porridge. He is now recovering. His refusal to allow the girl's lover to visit the house until satisfied of his character is the supposed cause of the attempt.

A Probable Murder.

NEW LONDON, Conn., November 28.—The body of an unknown middle aged man, well dressed, with a twenty pound weight attached to his neck, was found in Winthrop's cave to-day. In his pocket was a bill from H. Wagne, San Antonio, Texas, to M. A. Adams. A little money was found.

A Heavy Fire.

BALTIMORE, November 28.—A fire at the foot of Chesapeake street, at Canton, shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, burned two floating elevators, the Russian bark Vesta, two small yachts Smuggler and Eagle, and two barges.

The Kentucky Legislature.

LOUISVILLE, November 27.—The legislature met at Frankfort to-day. The democratic caucus nominated William C. Owings.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

To-day is general excursion day.

One of the cabs on the Western and Atlantic railroad bears on its side the name "Old Si."

Two trains will be run daily, on the fifteen minutes schedule, to the exposition this week.

The Richmond and Danville railroad company is having a picture made of the rifle range at Goodwin's.

The city of Vicksburg is putting in a bid to have the Georgia Pacific cross the Mississippi at that point.

There will be an important meeting for members of the chamber of commerce this morning at the usual hour.

The attention of the police is again called to the fact that hackmen are permitting boys to look after their vehicles, in violation of the ordinance.

A fine poem on "Cotton," from the pen of Rev. J. H. Martin, of this city, will appear in the New Orleans Times of December 11, being the great cotton issue of that journal.

The citizens of Rome have sent their only exhibitor, Mr. J. J. Sprenger, a gold-headed cane, in appreciation for his speech in eulogy of Rome at a recent exhibitors' meeting.

It might open the eyes of the postmaster-general to the real needs of Atlanta if he would stand around awhile and see the work our insufficient post-office force has to accomplish.

On Sunday Mr. Gaines, the colored minister, admonished his congregation not to put clipped and punched coins in the contribution box. He said he gave sound gospel and he wanted sound money in return, if any.

A cordial invitation is extended to all resident and visiting commercial travelers to meet at the gentlemen's parlor, Kimball house, this evening at 8 o'clock, as a matter of special interest to the fraternity will be brought before the meeting. A full attendance is requested.

AT THE EXPOSITION.

FACTS AND INCIDENTS OF THE DAY NOTED.

The Reception of Our Nashville Guests at the Exposition Grounds—A Magnificent Occasion and an Era of Genuine Enthusiasm—What the Exhibitors Say—The Coming Week.

The "Blue Mondays" at the exposition are passed, and the first day of the weeks now are fair average days for attendance and interest. Yesterday was a "good middling" day and thousands were out to enjoy a bright and cheery day of sight-seeing. We have never before known an exposition to be so thoroughly seen by the people who visited it as this one. We have yet to hear an exhibitor complain of the lack of attention to his exhibit on the part of the public. The arrangement of buildings and exhibits is such as to throw into commensurate prominence every exhibit in the exposition. The people, too, seem anxious to get the full worth of their money and to fill in every moment of their time.

Our Nashville Guests.

THE RECEPTION AT JUDGES' HALL YESTERDAY.

The party of Nashville visitors who are now here spent yesterday in visiting the exposition. Every member of the party showed a deep interest in the great show, and the expressions of astonishment and admiration were universal. The party, which is stopping at the Exposition hotel, is composed of the following named ladies and gentlemen: Mayor Thomas A. Kercheval and wife, Judge S. A. Duling, John L. Glenn, Ben McCann & Son, C. B. Kuhn, Miss Carrie Kuhn, Mrs. Fannie Wessel, W. H. Hyronemus and nephew, Dr. Duncan Eve, R. M. Howell, C. F. Brown, James Robinson, John Ross, R. H. Page and wife, Miss Mary Page, Mrs. Ware, Mrs. R. M. Porter, Miss Laura Reese, W. F. Glenn, W. A. Barry, C. E. Parker, J. C. Hood, P. Harris, Jr., N. C. Tucker and Miss Ella Tucker, John Beerlin, George Moore and son, Charles Rich, J. H. Hutchison, A. N. Grisham, A. B. Tavel and sister, Dr. R. Cheatham, Dr. J. D. Plunket, Pat Cleary, R. Doubleheiss, W. R. McFarland and wife, W. T. Lluck and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Rosenheim, W. H. Fisher, Dr. M. Baxter, L. H. Davis and wife and Miss Tober.

At three o'clock yesterday afternoon the party, after being shown over the grounds by the mayor and council of Atlanta, was escorted to Judges' hall where an address of welcome was made by Mayor English and responded to by members of the party of visitors. The meeting was called to order by Major J. F. Cummings, who introduced Mayor English. Mayor English made a short and appropriate address, in which he said that it was not necessary for Atlanta to formally welcome Tennesseans. He closed his remarks by introducing Mayor Kercheval, of Nashville, who made an interesting address. He said that he was just from a sick room and felt very little like making an address, but that after hearing such warm words of welcome as fell from the lips of the mayor of Atlanta he felt it his duty to respond. He spoke in enthusiastic terms of the exposition, and predicted that many good results would follow it. He made an eloquent appeal for immigration, and said that by it our hills and valleys could be made to blossom gloriously, and that wealth and plenty and happiness would follow.

At the conclusion of his remarks Major Cummings introduced Dr. Barry, a member of the party, who made a beautiful address of a few minutes's duration. He spoke of the greatness of the exposition as an educator and of the consequent good results that would flow from it. His address was listened to with great interest and closed the exercises, which, though short, were exceedingly interesting and pleasant.

Postmaster-General James.

HIMSELF AND PARTY TO ARRIVE IN THE CITY AT NOON

Yesterday noon Director-General Kimball received from Colonel L. M. Terrell, superintendent of railway mail service, the following telegram, sent from Jacksonville, Florida:

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., November 28.—H. I. Kimball, director general: Postmaster-general and party will reach Atlanta to-morrow, Tuesday, at 12:50 p.m., via Central railroad.

L. M. TERRELL, Supt.

The party is composed of Postmaster-General James, accompanied by Mrs. James, Assistant Postmaster-General Elmer and wife, Mr Frank James, Mrs. Pierson (the postmaster-general's daughter), Colonel Thompson, superintendent of the railway mail service, Mr. Jamison, assistant superintendent, and Mr. Van Wormer, chief clerk of the postoffice department. Colonel Terrell, of this city, is also now with the party.

The postmaster general and party have been to Florida, and are now on their return to Washington. They desire to view the exposition, and for that purpose will remain over in Atlanta until Wednesday evening.

Postmaster Conley and the attaches of the department in this city are preparing to do the courtesies of the occasion towards their distinguished chief. Yesterday, on the part of the exposition, Director-General Kimball appointed a committee, composed of Major John Fitten, John C. Peck and Sidney Root to extend him the proper attentions on behalf of the exposition.

It is expected that these guests will attend the exposition during to morrow afternoon and should there be any formal ceremonies for the occasion, if not announced in another column, will be posted conspicuously throughout the buildings during the forenoon, so that all may know what they are and when and where they occur.

A Drummers' Concert.

The Estey organ company will give a concert Wednesday noon, "Drummers' Day," in Judges' hall, complimentary to the commercial travelers. Any of the drummers to be present on that occasion who can add interest to the programme, either as singers or players upon any instrument (except the drum), it is hoped will be announced up and their names and accomplishments reported to-day to Mr. Samuel Bradley at the warerooms of the Estey organ company, corner of Broad and Alabama streets, that places may be provided for them in the melange of music and fun. Mr. Samuel Bradley will display the beauties of the new style Estey organ ycleft Cleopatra, because so black and winning. Miss Emma C. Babr, the eminent pianiste, will delight all by her brilliant performances. Mr. Bradley has promised to sing "Little Widow Dunn." Mr. R. B. Toy is down for "Never go back on a traveling Man," and Mr. C. M. Cady, if in voice, will sing "Figaro," the Factotum, who was several drummers rolled into one. The whole will conclude with "Nancy Lee," in whose praises all drummers present will heartily join, the effect of which can be safely warranted to be only too toothishly dulcet for anything.

Again at His Post.

Yesterday morning, agreeable to his promise, Director-General Kimball was in his office. He took an early start and cleared up a considerable amount of business that had been awaiting his attention. Although by no means fully recovered or at all arrived at his normal strength, he admirably sustained the fatigues of the day.

He was called upon during the day by many sympathetic friends, who tendered their congratulations. It is their hope that he has not put on the harness too early and that he may be able, without relapse, to go forward to the consummation of the great work he has in hand.

Southern Manufacturers' Convention.

The Southern Manufacturers' convention will meet on the 6th of December in the hall of the house of representatives. Indications point to a very large attendance. There will be some 250 or 300 delegates.

Pennsylvania Cotton.

Sometime ago THE CONSTITUTION published in full a letter from Fallon Bros., a firm of Philadelphia cotton factors, giving the details of the successful cultivation of half an acre of cotton in the open air in Delaware county, Pennsylvania. A sample of the cotton has been sent to the exposition and is now on exhibition in the main building with the collection of cotton from all quarters of the globe. It attracts much attention and many planters and cotton men regard it with wonder. Messrs. Fallon & Bro. have written another letter to Mr. Kimball, from which we make the following extract:

"As stated in our last we planted half an acre as an experiment with a view, if the result was satisfactory, of undertaking it next year on a larger scale. The result has been far beyond our expectations, and we feel satisfied that cotton can be raised as well as tobacco in this state—which ranks third in that culture—as it requires the same soil and climate, but with the advantage that it is less sensitive to frost. The only question is, can it be raised profitably? But if tobacco can, why not cotton? The chief difficulty in raising cotton so far north is getting a mature crop in the short season between frosts. It is easy, however, with the aid of a good fertiliser to so force the plant that it will flower, boll and mature in their proper season, and produce its crop.

As stated in our last letter, owing to our late spring we only planted our seed May 28th. The first bloom appeared July 10th, and first boll of any consequence September 5th. These did not break before September 20th, when they opened very fast. The yield should be about one-half bale to the acre, and as to staple, body and color, it is excellent, grading strict middling.

On the 5th October we had a very heavy frost, ice forming one-eighth of an inch thick, and have had fifteen frosty nights since of more or less severity. For all that, out of 1,000 plants only one-half are apparently dead, the leaves having blackened, dying and falling off, but the stock not actually dead. From November 1st to about the 15th warm rains fell periodically, greatly reviving many of these, so that shortly afterward not only new leaves appeared and wood formed, but even blooms. One plant in particular, which was sent to the New York cotton exchange as a curiosity, having five blooms.

Another singular fact is that at no time during the summer, owing to the drought, was a top crop expected, and yet since the several days of warm weather which we have had after the beneficial rains small embryo bolls have appeared which if south would possibly be fruitful.

This second growth is not a top crop, but a rejuvenation of the whole plant; but of course in this latitude at this season of the year when very cold weather can be expected at any moment, they are not expected to be fruitful. During all this fall the thermometer has been 15 to 20 degrees above the average. It is now 18 degrees above last year at this date, and no indication of any change.

The above statement concludes about all the facts of interest we can give our southern friends. Should they desire any further particular account, or sample of the cotton raised, by addressing us a line, we shall be pleased to forward it.

Much of this cotton has been baled in four-pound miniature bales, covered with silk and bound with nickel ties, which we distribute among our spinner friends as complimentary as "the first cotton ever grown in Pennsylvania."

Natural Lubricating Oils.

One of the most modest, and yet one of the most important, displays that is made at the exposition, is an exhibit of natural lubricating oils made in the west wing of the main building, at space 1,756, by John A. Lafoy, of Volcano, West Virginia. This display does not make any pretensions to an artistic get-up, and its prime object is to attract the attention of men who are interested in oils. It is made with a sole view to placing before the public samples of fine lubricating oils just as they are before they pass into the hands of the refiner. Mr. Lafoy has sent down for that purpose twenty four bottles of the different grades of oil, all produced within the limits of Wood county, and near to Volcano, West Virginia. He has also sent to Mr. J. C. Peck, superintendent of exhibits a hundred gallons of the oil, which has been in use by the exhibitors on machinery since the opening of the exposition. Yesterday a CONSTITUTION reporter asked a prominent exhibitor how the oil suited him and he replied:

"It suits me well. The fact is there is no better natural oil on the face of the earth than that sent here by Lafoy. He has oil here that ranges from 26 5-10° to 49° gravity, and oil of from 26 5-10° to 32° gravity is the finest lubricating petroleum in its natural state that is in the world."

The bottles of oil are labeled, showing the depth of each well and the grades shown are certainly equal to the best. These oils have been subjected to a test of 16 degrees below zero without congealing and this fact stamps them as most superior. Every man who uses lubricating oils should examine these samples, while visitors who would like to see the petroleum in the condition in which it comes from the wells should not fail to see what Mr. Lafoy has sent down. In all fresh petroleum there is a yellow sediment which collects in the bottom of a vessel after the oil has stood for a while. Mr. Lafoy keeps his oils in the tanks six months, giving it ample time to settle so that when it is put upon the market the purchaser gets pure, clean oil.

Mr. Lafoy is a producer and dealer in natural West Virginia lubricating oils and has a most extensive business. His oils simply defy the world in point of quality, and he takes great pains to sustain their reputation.

Mr. Lafoy has not visited the exposition yet, but will be here about the 8th. He wrote a friend here a few days ago stating that great interest is felt in the exposition throughout his section, and that good delegations may soon be expected from there.

An Attractive Exhibit.

WHAT THE AULTMAN & TAYLOR COMPANY HAVE AT THE EXPOSITION.

The most unique and interesting attraction of the agricultural machinery building is the display made by the Aultman & Taylor company, of Mansfield, Ohio. The exhibit is under the charge of Mr. Henry Schirck and Mr. H. R. Niman, two gentlemen of great experience in the handling and building of agricultural machinery. One of the most striking features of the display is a fine Aultman & Taylor thresher. This thresher is recognized as probably the best in the market, and has come into almost exclusive use among the most intelligent threshermen. It is built of the very best material and in a most superior and workmanlike manner. Another interesting portion of the display is the famous Aultman & Taylor traction engine. This engine simply defies the world. It has been known to travel roads in bad weather that no team would dare attempt to pass. There are also several farm, sawmill and ginning engines shown. They are taken from stock and are not built expressly for show. The unique part of the exhibit is a miniature thresher run by a miniature traction engine, both perfect representatives of the larger ones even to the smallest detail. At 11 and 3 o'clock the engine is detached from the thresher and made to run around a track. This draws much attention. These two little machines which are built with great care cost nearly a thousand dollars. They were built by Mr. F. Ogden, of Mansfield, Ohio. Every one should see this exhibit.

A Telegram.

Telegram to R. Brotherston, southern manager of Clark's O. N. T. spool cotton:

NEW YORK, November 28, 1881.

The statement made by one of our competitors, in yesterday's CONSTITUTION, that the O. N. T. spooling machine was entered for competition at Cincinnati, 1879, is an infamous falsehood, and deserving of the highest censure.

GEORGE A. CLARK & BROTHER,
Sole Agents for Clark's O. N. T. spool cotton in America, 100 Broadway, New York.

Exposition Notes.

—J. P. Stevens & Co. have a fine display of diamonds. There would be nothing remarkable in this statement if it were not for the fact that we add that they are not held at fancy prices. They are bought to sell, not to show, and the people buy them.

—It is a damp day when Jones's restaurant doesn't come out on the upper side.

—There was such a rush for Stevens's bangle rings at 90 cents apiece yesterday that the lot at the exposition was closed out, and a runner had to come into the city and get a new supply.

—A Columbus man proposed to an Augusta belle while at dinner at Jones's restaurant yesterday. She said she was too much interested in the business in hand to give him an answer then, but that she would probably be his in the spring.

All those who have given it a trial will not be without it. It cures. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

—In a railway collision near Leicester, England, three persons were killed and many terribly injured.

—Loss of memory, universal lassitude, pain in the back, premature old age, promptly cured with Brown's Iron Bitters. It restores lost functions and strengthens the weakened parts.

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

ONE OF THE REASONABLE PLEASURES

Of life, a properly cooked meal, affords little or no present enjoyment, and much subsequent torture to a confirmed dyspeptic. But when chronic indigestion is combated with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the food is eaten with relish, and most important of all, is assimilated by and nourishes the system. Use this grand tonic and corrective also to remedy constipation, biliousness, rheumatism, fever and ague.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

Malarial Diseases.

A sure and effectual prevention and cure is found in Simmon's Liver regulator. It originated in the south, and there achieved its great fame for diseases of that section.

—Emanuel Marks has been arrested in New York for robbing the First national bank of Detroit last July of $82,000.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

A BRAIN RESTORER.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate restores the brain when worried by the wear and tear of an active business life.

—Exposito, the alleged Italian brigand who was captured at New Orleans, has been lodged in jail at Palermo.

—Sudden change of the weather often cause Pulmonary, Bronchial, and Asthmatic troubles. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay irritation which induces coughing, oftentimes giving immediate relief.

—The Mexican Central railway has completed its track 92½ miles from the capital, and expects to reach Leon by June.

An Old Doctor's Advice.

It was this: "Trust in God and keep your bowels open." For this purpose many an old doctor has advised the habitually costive to take Kidney-Wort—for no other remedy so effectually overcomes this condition, and that without the distress and griping which other medicines cause. It is a radical cure for piles. Don't fail to use it.—Translated from the New York Zeitung.

—The steamship Maine brought to New York gold to the amount of $1,100,000.

Buys Them by the Gross.

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, May 25, 1881.

Please send me at once one gross of your most excellent medical tonic, Brown's Iron Bitters. I have used them in my practice, for indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, heartburn, nausea, vertigo, etc., and have met with great success, in effecting cures. I find they give perfect tone and real strength to every part of the body, and in cases of kidney diseases and consumption they quickly stop all decay.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

Rheumatism Neuralgia

Sprains, Pain in the Back and Side.

There is nothing more painful than these diseases; but the pain can be removed and the disease cured by use of PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

This remedy is not a cheap Benzine or Petroleum product that must be kept away from fire or heat to avoid danger of explosion, nor is it an untried experiment that may do more harm than good.

PAIN KILLER has been in constant use for forty years, and the universal testimony from all parts of the world is, IT NEVER FAILS. It not only effects a permanent cure, but it relieves pain almost instantaneously. Being a purely vegetable remedy, it is safe in the hands of the most inexperienced.

The record of cures by the use of PAIN KILLER would fill volumes. The following extracts from letters received show what those who have tried it think:

Edgar Cady, Owatonna, Minn., says:
About a year since my wife became subject to severe suffering from rheumatism. Our resort was to the PAIN KILLER, which speedily relieved her.

Charles Powell writes from the Sailors' Home, London:
I had been afflicted three years with neuralgia and violent evasms of the stomach. The doctors at Westminster Hospital gave up my case in despair. I tried your PAIN KILLER, and it gave me immediate relief. I have regained my strength, and am now able to follow my usual occupation.

G. H. Walworth, Saco, Me., writes:
I experienced immediate relief from pain in the side by the use of your PAIN KILLER.

E. York says:
I have used your PAIN KILLER for rheumatism, and have received great benefit.

Barton Seaman says:
Have used PAIN KILLER for thirty years, and have found it a never-failing remedy for rheumatism and lameness.

Mr. Durditt writes:
It never fails to give relief in cases of rheumatism.

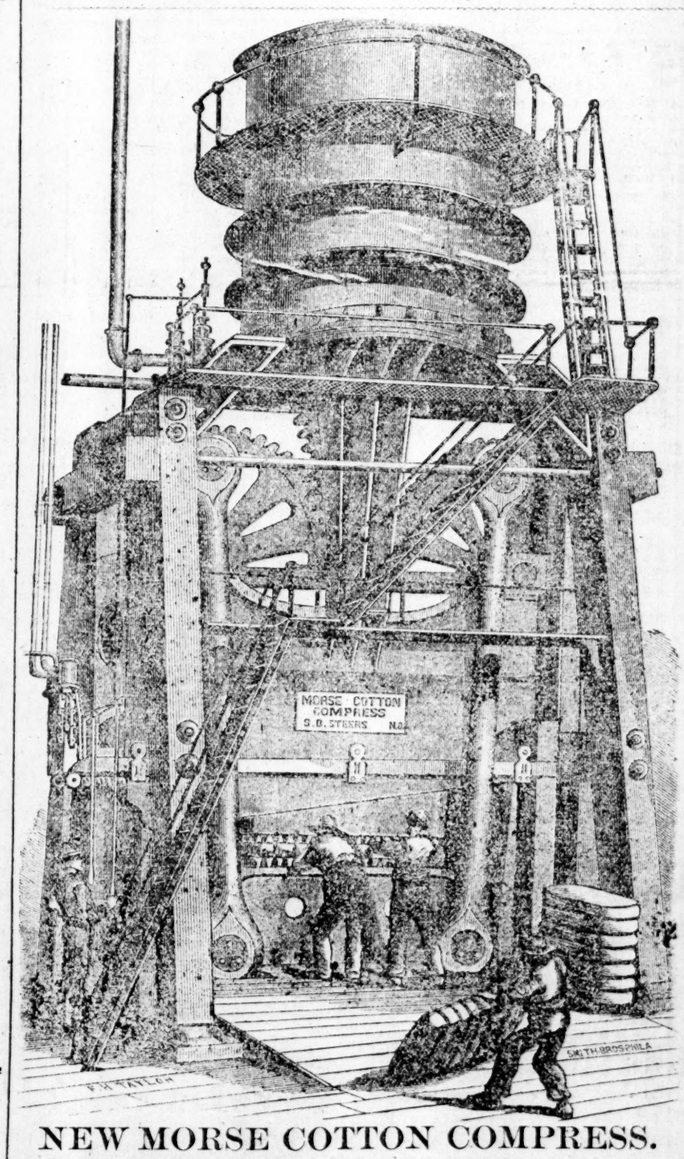

Phil. Gilbert, Somerset, Pa., writes:
From actual use, I know your PAIN KILLER is the best medicine I can get.

All druggists keep PAIN KILLER. Its price is so low that it is within the reach of all, and it will save many times its cost in doctors' bills. 25c., 50c., and $1.00 a bottle.

COTTON COMPRESS.

NEW MORSE COTTON COMPRESS.

The Largest and Most Powerful Compress on the Earth.

With a Lifting Power of 3000 Tons.

THIRTY-FIVE have been built and erected in four years; and for this period twice as many as all other Compresses, and in the last two years five times as many as all others combined in the United States, making the investment in the Morse Press over one million dollars in four years. 400,000 pounds of material are required for a single Compress, and only iron is used of the highest known grade. Their immense weight, strength and durability, make them in the end, the cheapest Compress in use, and the only one to meet the commercial demands of the present and future. Several of those first built have now compressed from 400,000 to 500,000 bales cotton, without defect or perceptible wear. The have secured a density (measured in the press) of 75 pounds to the cubic foot.

A FEW CHIEF MERITS.

1. It is, in all respects, simplest in construction, and least liable to disorder or breakage.
2. It is a steam power, and works faster than any of the hydraulic presses and has no packings to give out, when delays would be ruinous.
3. It has fewer points in motion, and consequently less wear and friction than any other compress.
4. Its wedge-shaped rack and cycloidal sectors secure a PROGRESSIVE leverage, nicely adjusted to overcome the increasing density of the bale, as the platen is brought home.
5. Its superior power has reduced freight to a minimum, and wherever located, has made the business of compress wonderfully successful, and at many interior points has doubled the receipts of cotton.

New Orleans alone has nine of these mammoth presses; Memphis three; Houston, three; Norfolk, three; others at Mobile, Galveston, Brenham, Dallas, Fort Worth, Paris, Jefferson, Shreveport, Little Rock, Vicksburg, Meridian, Columbus, (Miss.) Selma, Wilmington, West Point, Va., Rome and St. Louis, and one may be seen daily at work in this city, (Atlanta.) For descriptive circulars and particulars address

ASTHMA Quickly and Permanently CURED

Dr. Stinson's Asthma Remedy is unequaled as a positive Alterative and Cure for Asthma and Dyspepsia, and all their attendant evils. It does not merely afford temporary relief, but is a permanent cure. Mrs. B. F. Lee, of Belmore, O., says of it: "I am surprised at the speedy effects of your remedy. It is the first medicine in six years that has loosened my cough and made expectoration easy. I now sleep all night without coughing." If your druggist does not keep it, send for treatise and testimonials to H. P. K. PECK & CO., 853 Broadway, New York.

RICORD'S VITAL RESTORATIVE.

RICORD'S VITAL RESTORATIVE

Has been Indorsed by the Academy of Medicine, Paris, and stood the test of over half a century as a specific for Nervous and Physical Debility, loss of manly vigor, etc.

Is an infallible specific for nervous and physical debility, etc., contains no phosphorous, cantharides or other poison; is purely vegetable; is a sugar-coated pill.

The genuine can be had at Schumann's Pharmacy Atlanta, Ga.

Boxes of 100, $3; 400, $10; sent by mail upon receipt of price, by all Druggists.

CAUTION.

Ricord's Vital Restorative, like all other meritorous articles, has been extensively counterfeited by rascally impostors.

One of these advertises his bread pills as Ricord's Restorative and publishes a forged letter. Another put out his counterfeit as Ricord's Vital Restorative.

They carry my trade mark, label, and forged autograph signature, thus working a positive injury to the public.

CAUTION.

The Genuine Ricord's Vital Restorative,

alone has a United States PRIVATE PROPRIETARY STAMP, in blue, on each box, bearing the full name and monogram of Dr S Brown Sigesmond. Take none other.

Dr. Sigesmond agrees to forfeit $5,000 for any failure to cure with Ricord's Vital Restorative (under special advice) or for anything impure or injurious in it. Over 10,000 cures in the U. S. alone has been effected within the last five years.

Address, with inclosed post stamp for descriptive circular with testimonials and symptoms, to Dr. S. B. Sigesmond, 40 World Building, New York.

KAISER WILHELM feels better.

A SMALL-POX scare is developing.

AND even Roumania rejects the American hog.

BARON VON STEUBEN is satisfied. This relieves us.

NASHVILLE grew big on the exposition grounds yesterday.

THE congressional ceremonies, eulogistic of the late president, are to be very simple.

AN understanding exists between England and Spain in regard to French designs upon Morocco.

ONE was tall and the other was short. That is all that is known about a couple of Texan mail robbers.

CAPTAIN JOHN J. SEAY, one of the leading business men of Rome, aspires to the mayoralty of that city.

OLD AUNT SALLIE, the centenarian of Ulster county, New York, is dead. She had attained the age of 101 years.

THE Brazilian elections have resulted in favor of the liberals—the chamber standing, liberals 72, conservatives 50.

IN a collision between a team of runaway fire engine horses and a street car, in Philadelphia, two young men were killed and several wounded.

LEFROY, the English murderer, who is to be executed in London to-day, has confessed and retracted, and now claims a hearing from the home secretary as a confirmed crank.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL JAMES and party will arrive in Atlanta to-day. He will be welcomed as the first genuine civil service cabinet officer who has held office since the war.

NOW that the street cars absolutely refuse to take perforated coins, the contribution plates of the churches will be burdened. There is a good deal of significance in sending a nickel with a hole in it to the heathen.

SEARCHING the scriptures sometimes leads to trouble. A happy conjugal couple in Arkansas had a dispute over a text, which resulted in the husband perforating his wife with a pistol ball, and then trying suicide on himself.

THE complaint comes from South Carolina that the recent frosts have inflicted irreparable injury upon the cotton crop of that state. Even in the sea islands, where the frost was least severe, the promise of an additional yield has been frustrated.

A CURIOUS case of grave robbing is reported from Buffalo, where an examination of the exhumed "stiff" led to the discovery that either the wrong man was dead or the wrong body had been buried. An investigation of the matter developed a mysterious murder. The parties concerned have been arrested.

YESTERDAY was the richest day yet in the trial of the assassin. One witness testified that Guiteau was insane because he "fell desperately in love." At another point the prisoner held a theological discussion with a cranky brother. Altogether, Guiteau seems to have taken full possession of the comedy business.

THE report of Mint Director Burchard shows that the gold and silver passing through the mints and assay offices during the past year exceed by fifty per cent the receipts of any previous year. Mr. Burchard's suggestion to stop the coinage of silver dollars, however, is somewhat impertinent, and will receive but little attention from congress. When his views are wanted they will be asked for.

THE legal understrappers of the department of justice are quarreling over a question of red tape in regard to the star route business. It is claimed that Mr. Gibson should have placed his report in Mr. Mulliken's pigeon hole, instead of taking the public into his confidence. What the public is now most concerned in is the conviction of the thieves, regardless of the fine feelings of either Mulliken or Phillips.

THE contest over the speakership assumed new life on yesterday, owing to the large arrival of members. It is evident, however, that Mr. Kasson will carry off the prize. It is conceded that the nomination for clerk lies between McPherson, of Pennsylvania, and Rainey, of South Carolina, with all the chances in favor of the former. Of course Rainey is a colored man, and who ever heard of the republican party giving an office to a colored man as long as there was a white patriot ready to fill it?

THE fuss that has been made over the report of Mr. A. M. Gibson on the star-route frauds is very significant. The New York Herald wants the prosecutions to go on, but the Washington correspondent of the Herald declares that Gibson's report is a forgery. It seems that Gibson made his report as a special assistant attorney, and the person who is now acting attorney—a man named Phillips—affects to be outraged. The status of the whole affair, the attitude of the officers of the government and the temper of the administration all go to justify MacVeagh's resignation. Certainly his usefulness was at an end when Arthur became president. The significance of the reception which has been accorded to Gibson's report lies in the fact that the star-routers not only have friends in the law department of the government, but that they are in a position to rally the newspaper correspondents to their defense when the worst comes to the worst.

THE narrow gauge railroad is one of the greatest developers of the age. It enables every railroad to place itself in connection with all important points within a day's reach along its line, thus extending its benefits fifty or seventy-five miles on either side. The extent to which these feeders can be made to contribute to the business of the trunk line is simply incalculable. They will penetrate all the hitherto "dark corners" of the country, bringing them within the influence of law and civilization, and it is also safe to say that wherever a railroad station is established it will be soon followed by a modest little church, and a schoolhouse filled with neatly-clad pupils. Push the narrow gauge to its limits.

THE IRISH AGITATION.

The condition of affairs in Ireland is daily becoming more deplorable. Outrages are reported from all parts of the island, and a state of anarchy exists everywhere except where some show of order is maintained by the presence of the soldiery or the constabulary. The efforts of the land commission to secure a hearing from the people have thus far failed, and the people, in grim determination, stand face to face with the government, the one sullen and deaf to the voice of authority, and the other determined to crush out all symptoms of rebellion.

That the gravity of the situation is felt by the government is evidenced by the attention which it is receiving from the leading statesmen of the empire. It is the principal topic discussed at all the political gatherings; at every parliamentary election it enters as one of the issues, and in such parts of England and Scotland as contain any number of Irish voters, the agitation is as fierce as it could be in Ireland itself.

To reduce the people to peace is a problem that will tax the energies of the government. An army in the field may be routed, but where the people lie down in sullen desperation, refusing to aid the government in enforcing the laws, and rejecting such conciliatory measures as are passed for their benefit, it is difficult to devise a remedy. A nation cannot be put in prison; and where suffering is the normal condition of the people, the irksomeness of government espionage cannot make it much worse.

One thing is evident—the work of reform must go on. The passage of the land act was the beginning of a momentous revolution in the land laws that cannot be confined to Ireland alone. The aristocratic feature of British society must disappear before the march of events. The leaven that is now working in Ireland only presages what is to continue until it carries the three kingdoms; until the people govern the country in which they live for their own benefit and because it inures to their own happiness, and until the exrescences bequeathed by centuries of crown and family favoritism shall have been swept away forever.

THE appearance of three issues of the Southern World, the new industrial fortnightly recently started in Atlanta, gives us an opportunity of forming a reasonably accurate judgment as to its merits and prospects. The Southern World starts out under more favorable auspices than we had deemed possible for any venture of the kind in this latitude, where appreciation is slow in its results. It is devoted to the practical affairs of life, the industries of the farm, the home and the workshop. It is elegantly printed, and its illustrations, which are in the best style of the art, convey useful information. It is under the editorial control of Mr. W. G. Whidby, whose special talents in this direction are supplemented by marvelous patience and zeal. The subscription price of the Southern World is $1 a year, with special terms for clubs, and it has already reached a large circulation. We do not hesitate to say that it merits whatever success it may attain.

THERE is no Indian war now going on. The fact is, the weather is so cold in the west that the government agents who are appointed to rob and plunder the red men are compelled to sit by the stove. In the meantime they are mapping out a programme which will stir up the Indians from the British possessions to the Rio Grande. In a small way, the country has no abler statesmen than the agents who plunder the Indians.

THE New York Tribune wants the republicans to forget that Gorham is the author and inventor of Mahone.

JOHN LOGAN'S testimony was in the direction of acquitting Guiteau. John Logan, it will be remembered, is a stalwart.

REV. DR. HARRISON says there is no country like our own. In a good many respects, the doctor is right. When we become patriotic enough to condone Guiteauism, the country will be more attractive than it is now.

THERE is nothing left for sensible people to do but to saw wood and say nothing. The cranks hold the balance of power.

THE judge in the Guiteau case is missing a good deal of well-merited applause by not putting on his circus clothes.

MR. BLAINE probably regrets his connection with political stalwartism.

THE trial of Guiteau has demonstrated the fact that those who shoot a president have a good deal of genuine fun.

RAINEY, colored, of South Carolina, is a candidate for clerk of the house. When the republicans were in a minority in the house, they showed their love for the negro by voting unanimously for Rainey. Now that they are in a position to elect Rainey, the organs refuse even to mention the fact that he is a candidate; and if the republicans should so far forget their prejudices as to make him clerk, there would be quite a little howl at the north.

THUS far, none of the stalwarts in attendance on the Guiteau trial have flung a bouquet at the feet of the assassin. This shows how cautiously they are managing their sympathy.

OUR esteemed contemporary, the Baltimore Fizette, is still defending Senator Bayard from imaginary attacks in THE CONSTITUTION. We have no doubt that the amusing conduct of Mr. Bayard's organs have long ago convinced him that THE CONSTITUTION is teeming with attacks upon him. The Fizette is beginning to act like it was published in Chattanooga.

THE flourishing condition of the Iowa penitentiary shows that republicanism is productive of something else besides cranks.

COLONEL J. E. BRYANT says that if the next democratic legislature will vote a comfortable addition to the public school fund, there will be no issue between the parties in Georgia. This is cool, but the esteemed colonel will not be allowed to abstract the educational plank from the state democratic platform.

THE illustrated papers would be glad to get a photograph of the next governor of Georgia. We have no time now to remember the color of his eyes and hair, but the general contour of his politics will be democratic—too progressively democratic, perhaps, to suit the ideas of the inflamed critics who wanted to commit suicide because General Sherman visited the exposition.

THE so-called friends of the Lincoln family at the north have a queer habit of mixing up semi-annual messes for the public. The Lincoln family can well afford to pray to be delivered from its friends.

WHEN there is any talk about surplus revenue, the republican leaders stick their tongues in their cheeks and look steadily into the firmament. It is a right funny sight to see seven or eight hundred statesmen looking simultaneously at the firmament. There is no doubt, however, that they know what to do with the surplus revenue.

IF there is more than enough surplus revenue to elect the next republican president on the Dorsey plan, it can be used in pensioning off such of the republican cranks as have endeavored to restore harmony in the party.

APPEARANCES are deceitful. Cats do not live on the wood-shed, nor yet on the back fence. It is not true, even, that these things were made especially for the accommodation of cats. This shows that a merely technical education should be pieced out by observation.

PERSONAL.

MRS. SCOVILLE has a mild, sweet voice.

THE late Stephen Whitney Phœnix, of New York, is said to have left half a million dollars to Columbia college in that city.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE, in spite of her 61 years and her long confinement to an invalid's sofa, looks young and even handsome.

GOVERNOR PLAISTED presided at the address in the city hall of Portland, Maine, by Father Sheehy, on the Irish land question.

HAIDEE HELLER, once the assistant of the late magician, Robert Heller, is now cashier in a restaurant on Leicester Square, London.

HOBART PASHA is about to take up his permanent residence in Paris, contenting himself with a visit of a few weeks thrice a year to Turkey.

PROF. HUXLEY has, in consequence of the pressure of other duties, resigned the office of secretary of the British royal society, which he has held since 1872.

RENAN has rheumatism. He is, nevertheless, busy, and tells the Italians that the anti-clerical clubs have in their hands the problem of the nineteenth century.

DON CARLOS has taken up his residence for the winter at a fashionable hotel in the west end of London, and grumbles loudly at the gloomy climate and dull existence of that city.

THE ex-Empress Eugenie intends to build a mausoleum in the grounds of her new English home, and will transfer to it from Chiselhurst the remains of her husband and son.

THE duke of Norfolk has returned to England from his pilgramage to Lourdes with his unfortunate baby boy. There is no improvement visible in the condition of the child.

SENATOR CONKLING and wife and their daughter, Mrs. Oakhurst, and husband have secured apartments at 17 West Forty-second street, New York, for the winter and have leased their residence at Utica.

MLLE. DE BOIS GUILBERT, a young French lady who claims to be a lineal descendant of the unpleasant Templar in "Ivanhoe," is about to be married to M. Buffet, nephew of the former president of the French assembly.

FOUR autograph letters from Mrs. Garfield have been received at the American legation in London. One was addressed to Queen Victoria, and was immediately forwarded; the others were for Mr. Lowell, Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Tom Hughes.

GOVERNOR MURRAY, of Utah, sent Governor Crittenden, his half-brother, of Missouri, as a silver wedding present a silver brick weighing eight and one half ounces, and inscribed: "1856. C. J. 1881. Affectionate congratulations of Eli and Evelyn. Utah-Missouri."

SENATOR JOHN S. WILLIAMS, of Kentucky, recently sold a crop of tobacco, raised by himself in that state, which was the most extraordinary one for a crop lot ever sold in the Cincinnati market. It netted upwards of $23,000 for the product of less than ninety acres.

MRS. GARFIELD has placed the literary remains of her husband in the hands of Colonel Rockwell, who is to act under her directions in the preservation and care of them. General Swaim has been appointed attorney and financial agent of the late president's estate.

ELIZABETH of Austria is one of the most accomplished of empresses. She talks fluently in German, English and French, and has no hesitancy in passing from one to the other. "Of course I speak English," she recently said to an American who was presented to her, "and I read your juvenile papers to my children."

HENRY CLAY, a grandson of the famous bearer of that name, went to Greenland a year or so ago, with the purpose of joining the Howgate expedition there. The expedition, like Captain Howgate, was a failure, and Mr. Clay was left to look for the North Pole on his own hook. He did so, traveled a great deal by dog-team and got enough of it. He has just reached his home in Kentucky.

MR. OCTAVIUS B. FROTHINGHAM is overloaded with letters questioning him concerning his supposed change of religious views, and he says if he were to reply to all the foolish things in the papers and to explain all the riddles proposed, his hands would be full of most unprofitable work. He states that the note which was published a few days ago contained all that he is disposed to say to the public on the subject.

IN GENERAL.

THERE are more dogs than sheep in Massachusetts.

A BOSTON Sunday paper gives a column in Italian and a poem in French.

A JUDICIOUS observation by the Watertown Times: "No first class editor can afford to fool away his time in congress."

A GIRL at Coultersville, N. C., was locked in a room by her father, who chained a savage bull-dog under her window, but her lover poisoned the dog, pried open her window, and carried her off.

LONDON Truth says that the pope has by no means played his last card, and that he bothers his adversaries by never showing his hand. That paper says that the clericals are going more and more into politics.

THE eucalyptus trees grow so rapidly in California that they are now being cut for fuel near Florence. The forest is large enough to make the vistas opened by the falling of trees very picturesque.

FORTUNATELY there are no women on the Washington jury. The evidence that an aunt of the assassin wore the same bonnet year after year would convince some women that there was insanity in the family.—Milwaukee Republican.

FOR the year ending July 2, 1881, the exports of British Columbia amounted in value to $2,225,753. Coal was the largest item, the value being $739,351. Gold is next, amounting to $576,918. Products of fisheries reached a total export value of $180,984. Of agricultural products the export value was only $248.

HOUSTON, Texas, has been scandalized by charges involving the moral reputations of Professor Burnett, superintendent of schools under the Peabody funds scheme, and his assistant, Miss Mollie Cox, formerly a leading young lady of Shelbyville, Tenn. Burnett has acknowledged his "error" and resigned.

AT Bakersfield, Cal., recently, three trials in succession, resulted as follows: A man who killed another in the latter's own house was acquitted; a man who shot at another twice, with intent to kill, and missed his mark, was fined $150, and a third, who tried to steal a watch, was sent to the penitentiary for ten years.

AT the next meeting the grand lodge of English Freemasons, on December 7, the grand master, the prince of Wales, will move "that this grand lodge agree to a vote of condolence with the widow and family of the late brother, James Abram Garfield, president of the United States of America, who died the 19th of September last from wounds received from the hands of an assassin."

THE Protestant clergymen of New Haven were among the first to formally approve the revised version of the New Testament and put it into use. Now a majority of these have changed their opinion, and have voted the new version too faulty to be acceptable. The chief condemnation was of bad English, the Rev. Dr. John E. Topp declaring that he had counted one hundred and fifty errors of grammer uncorrected in one of the Epistles to the Corinthians alone.

THE report of the superintendent of public instruction in Virginia for the year which closed July, 1881, shows 5,382 schools (3,939 for white and 1,443 for colored children), attended by 162,087 white and 66,959 colored pupils. As compared with the preceding year, the colored schools and attendance thereat had increased in greater ratio than white schools. Current expenses called for $963,000, and permanent improvements for $137,238, a total of $1,100,238 and an increase of $170,803 over the previous year.

EX-SENATOR HENDRICKS is quoted as saying that Reverdy Johnson was the ablest lawyer in the senate in his day; Sumner the most successful in getting his views embodied in laws; Buckalew a debater of rare force; Garrett Davis most fearless, but not always considerate; Doolittle the finest orator; Fessenden the readiest man, never leaving a point unanswered, and the ablest man Maine has ever produced; John Sherman always prepared; Trumbull eminent in legal learning in debate; Morton strong and earnest, but "extreme in his expressions."

CURRENT COMMENT.

A Great Mistake.
Springfield Republican.

A town makes a mistake when it cheapens the office of mayor.

Brief but Comprehensive.
Reading Spirit.

But whatever Mahone may say, it is certain that he is not so confident of the future. He is a political guerrilla, and that tells the story better than anything he can say.

Not a Bad Thing.
Chicago Times.

It is said that Mr. William Waldorf Astor is to be given a foreign mission. In one view of it this wouldn't be a bad thing. It would tend to keep Mr. Astor abroad.

At Half Rates.
Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A clergyman in Canada was fined $1 and costs for kissing another man's wife. That is rather a low figure, but it is supposed that clergymen in Canada get everything at half-rates.

A Check Needed.
Springfield Republican.

There ought to be some check put to the enormous waste of the public printing at Washington. Perhaps lavish printing is one of the necessary evils of the operation of free government, but there is less reason for it now than ever when the press so fully supplies the demand for popular intelligence.

An Occasional Crumb.
Chicago Times.

The Buckeye isn't actually starving. A stray crumb falls to him now and then, as, for instance: "The president, upon the recommendation of Minister Bingham, has appointed Mr. S. F. Frazier, of Ohio, to be interpreter to the legation of the United States in Japan. The place is worth $2,500 a year, and has been held heretofore by an Ohio man named David W. Thompson."

What Atlanta Owes to Sherman.
Springfield Republican.

Now it would be a very sensible thing for Atlanta sometime to give General Sherman a hearty reception. Atlanta owes her great prosperity and her hopeful prospects to abolition of slavery and the preservation of the union, in which General Sherman was a potent agency. He burned cities to this end, not from wantonness, and at the outset of a campaign of great hazard and audacity. Atlanta ought to be, if not grateful, at least able to treat him with respect.

Ignoble Beggars.
New York Sun.

A telegram from Cleveland says that Mrs. Garfield is overwhelmed with letters from all parts of the country begging for money. So many come every day that it is impossible for her to answer them.

These applications for charitable relief are doubtless prompted by the knowledge that Mrs. Garfield has lately received a gift of upward of three hundred thousand dollars solely on account of her own family misfortunes. The poor widow from the most miserable farm house in the land, whose hard-working husband has been murdered by some wretched tramp, can see no reason why she should not receive aid similar to that given to the wife of the dead president. What inequality may sometimes occur in the distribution of charity!

Mahone's Rivals.
Philadelphia Times.

There are indications that Senator Mahone isn't going to have as peaceful a time completing his Virginia victory as he could desire. He has picked out his candidate for United States senator, but the Republican part of the repudiation coalition doesn't like it. They have so far succeeded only in getting a lieutenant governor out of the upheaval, and that certainly is not much return for the surrender of the republican party in an important southern state. The republican who was elected lieutenant governor, ex-Senator Lewis, is himself a candidate for United States senator, and he calls attention to the fact that this was the programme laid out when he consented to take the nomination for an insignificant place on the ticket. Lieutenant Governor Lewis will make a fight for the senatorship, and if he can hold the republican members of the legislature Mahone cannot dictate the candidate.

An Unpleasant Bed.
Washington Post.

The most ignoble insult offered to Mahone is the suggestion that Judge Thomas Jefferson Mackey (or MacKay) is thinking about heading a similar movement in South Carolina. The trouble with Mackey is that nobody of either race or any color is likely to trust him. He came into prominence in South Carolina politics as an extreme and most bitter republican. He was elected by a colored legislature a judge, and went half through the campaign of 1876 as a supporter of Chamberlain and one of his trusted friends. Seeing danger ahead he turned over to Hampton and was allowed to retain his judgeship. Now it is reported he sees a prospect in South Carolina for Mackey by imitating Mahone in Virginia. Nobody in the Palmetto state will attach any importance to anything he may do or meditate. He has been paid by a democratic legislature a very good price for services of very little value, and when his term expires he will in all probability be heard of politically no more. If Mackey be the nearest approach to Mahone that South Carolina can furnish, the results in Virginia will not be repeated in her next neighbor but one.

Manifest Destiny.
New York Herald.

The future of Canada is one of the most interesting political problems of the time. Whether it shall remain a portion of the British empire, become independent or gravitate into the union is a question which the wisest statesmen are unable to answer. Canada herself is in the dark on the subject, for although the existence of an annexation sentiment among its people is stoutly denied, the fact that so much patriotic protestation is made when the idea is suggested is in itself exceedingly suspicious. A brief letter which Mr. John Bright wrote some years ago on the question, and which has just been made public, is interesting. He is quoted as saying that he has always thought it probable that "the union will include the whole North American continent," and that it was a matter with which English statesmen "could not meddle." Mr. Bright expresses the public sentiment of this country as accurately as he does that of Great Britain. The fate of Canada has a certain speculative interest for our statesmen and writers, but none of them seek to hasten or postpone a crisis. The United States are not as ambitious of territory as they were some years ago, the general opinion being that we have all we need.

Business Activity.
New York Sun.

Down town, too, the work of building is going on at an unexampled rate. Yet as fast as the structures are completed they seem to fill up with tenants, the demand for stores and offices being unusually brisk, and the rents paid much in excess of what they were three and four years ago even. Accordingly a vast amount of the capital which has been earning only two or three per cent annually is put into these structures, which are increasing so rapidly and are of so enormous size that their owners could not expect to find tenants for them if the city was not growing in population and business, in wealth and the volume of its transactions, at a rate unparalleled in the past.

This activity in building is affording the mechanics plenty of work and enabling them to command wages which seem to be satisfactory. The high prices of food this season, however, tell severely against families with small or moderate incomes, and there is no prospect that we shall have markets more favorable to them for many months to come. Articles of clothing, on the contrary, have not advanced, though in general the cost of living is now considerably more than it was a year ago. Board is higher, the hotels hold their rooms at stiffer rates, restaurants have put up their prices for food and rents have been increased.

The Guiteau Farce.
Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Guiteau court continues to be a victim of its funny bone.

Philadelphia Times.

The Guiteau trial is a burning shame to the country. Nothing like it was ever witnessed in any but a border court. Instead of a solemn tragedy a comedy has been enacted every day since the trial began. Judge Cox seems to be a particularly weak individual. District-Attorney Corkhill is a vain, pompous man. Between them they have brought about a pretty state of affairs.

Chicago Times.

Guiteau's idea of the model landlady, the kind-hearted and Christian landlady, is of one who will not bother her boarders about their little bills, but will continue to provide the provender and let the money question take care of itself. This is a view which boarding-house beats generally will be glad to take. With them the motto is: "Base is the slave that pays," and baser is the creditor who would suggest so groveling a process.

New York World.

The "National Republican" of Washington, announced yesterday as one of the features of the day in Judge Cox's court that "Billy Florence, the comedian, occupied a seat in the rear of the witness-box during the afternoon." It might have been better for the decorum of the tribunal if 'Billy Florence" had occupied the seat of Judge Cox. A successful actor could hardly be so insensible to the decencies and dignities of such a scene as Judge Cox daily proves himself to be.

London News.

It is to be hoped, for the sake of American justice and public decency and good taste, that the trial of Guiteau will soon come to an end. It will probably be acknowledged in America, as in England, that Guiteau has been allowed to carry his own conduct of the case too far. It seems absolutely necessary in the interest of decency and justice that Guiteau be prevented from turning the tragedy into a burlesque and from attempting to prove his own insanity by a demeanor which badly simulates or travesties madness.

Colonel Avery's Book.
Charles C. Jones, Jr., in Augusta Chronicle.

Adopting a natural division, Colonel Avery presents the history of the state during three important and sequent epochs, viz: the decade before the war, the war and during the period of reconstruction—times which indeed tried men's souls and tested sorely the patriotism, the endurance and the manhood of our entire people. He concludes with a picture of Georgia as she is, rising from her ashes, and nerving herself for new life and action in the domains of science, art, literature, agriculture, manufacture, internal improvement and commerce.

Himself a native Georgian, observant of events, a participant in affairs which have culminated into glorious history, a ready writer, proud of the record which our grand old commonwealth has achieved, occupying positions which for years brought him into intimate relations with many of the prominent actors in the military and political drama, carefully availing himself of all information, whether treasured in the breasts of the living, preserved in official departments, or communicated by the journals of the day—those indispensable and most valuable chroniclers of the times—anxious to perpetuate the true circumstance of the action, and to omit nothing which would illustrate the period covered by the narrative, the author has furnished a contribution to the general history of the state full of interest, evincing abundant thought, laborious research, and careful analysis.

It is impossible, at this early moment, to present even an outline of the contents of this valuable publication, embracing more than seven hundred closely printed octavo pages, and illustrated with portraits of distinguished Georgians. This pleasure must be reserved for a future occasion.

At present we can only congratulate Colonel Avery upon the completion of his great labor, and bespeak for his history the favor of the state and her patriotic sons.

BY THE WAY

O, what climbing plans of name,
Shining, battle-conquered fame,
In that first-felt sense of pride
When he perished from my side
In that west-world, long ago—
Even so.

All is won. Yet what is won?
All we dared to dream is done.
Yet I had rather rest to-day
Where the wide-eyed rabbits play—
Rest as he rests, lone and low—
Even so.

Rather walk that grass-grown trail,
Peopled by the piping quail,
Leading to that lonely grave
Where forgotten grasses wave,
To mine own grave than this show—
Even so.

Soft and low, soft and low
Let Sierra's sad winds blow:
I am sad: a strange bird blown
By the four winds from mine own;
Blown and beaten to and fro—
Even so.

—Joaquin Miller in Independent.

SUNDAY'S FIGHT.

Tom Thrash and Three Policemen Stir up the Town.

About 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon quite an excitement was created on Broad street, near Hunter, by a difficulty between Mr. Tom Thrash and Mr. W. S. Whitlock, and Policemen Carlisle, Green and Russell.

Some time during the afternoon, Mr. Thrash, who is engaged at Mr. Charles Wells's livery stable on Broad street, hired a horse and buggy to a party on Collins street. Later in the afternoon Mr. Thrash found the same horse and buggy in the possession of Mr. M. T. Whitlock, who does business at 87 Decatur street, and at once accosted him and asked where he got the outfit. Mr. Whitlock replied by saying that he had hired it from Mr. Wells. This did not satisfy Mr. Thrash, and after ordering Mr. Whitlock to drive the horse and buggy back to the stable, began abusing him, and then returned to the stable himself. Soon after Mr. Thrash reached the stable Mr. Whitlock drove in when the quarrel was renewed. During the controversy Thrash lost his temper and grabbed an old sword with which he made a desperate assault upon Whitlock, and in all probability would have killed him but for the intervention of Mr. Wells, who succeeded in wrenching the sword from his hand. Just at this instance Policeman Carlisle came up and attempted to arrest Mr. Thrash, but without success, for as soon as Thrash spied the policeman he grabbed a pitchfork and made a charge. Again Mr. Wells intervened and saved a life, but not until the policeman had received two or three severe blows from Mr. Thrash.

Seeing himself unable to arrest Mr. Thrash, Officer Carlisle called Officers Russell and Green to his aid, and after a severe struggle the three succeeded in carrying Thrash to the station house, where he was locked up, and where he remained until yesterday evening. During the difficulty between Thrash and the policemen one of them struck him a heavy lick over the head which cut a long gash that subsequently required the thread. Thrash also struck Officer Green on the chin with his fist and dislocated his jaw. When the casualties were sumed up it was found that Mr. Whitlock's right hand had been badly mutilated by the sword in the hands of Mr. Thrash. The little finger was split quite a distance, and a hole had been made through the palm. Officer Carlisle had two bad bruises on his arm, Officer Green a dislocated jaw and Mr. Thrash an ugly scalp wound.

At the station house a city case was entered against Mr. Thrash and upon this he had a hearing before Recorder Glenn yesterday morning. The charge preferred was disorderly conduct, using profane language and resisting an officer, and upon the testimony of those who saw the difficulty a fine of $75 was imposed in the two cases: but Mr. Thrash's trouble did not end here.

Soon after court Mr. Whitlock went before a justice of the peace and swore out a warrant charging Mr. Thrash with assault with intent to murder. Officer Green preferred the same charge, as also did Officer Carlisle, and three state warrants were procured, but before a preliminary trial could be arranged the grand jury had taken charge of the case, and, if reports are correct, found three true bills against the accused.

Thrash says that when the difficulty began he was pretty full of liquor and knew nothing of the trouble he was making. He seems to regret his action, but says since he has gotten into the trouble he will see it through.

Death of Miss Mattie Dean.

Miss Mattie Dean, a well known young lady of this city, died yesterday evening at one o'clock, at the residence of her grandfather Mr. J. Warlick, on Peachtree street, of consumption. For the past six months the young lady realized that death was surely approaching, and although her life was a pleasant and happy one, she gladly hailed the death that ushered her into the presence of the God whom she had worshipped with great devotion from her early childhood. She was a consistent member of the First Methodist church, and for years was an active Sunday-school teacher, in which field she did great good for the cause she so dearly loved. Her funeral will take place at her grandfather's residence this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and will be conducted by the Rev. C. A. Evans, after which her remains will be escorted to Oakland cemetery where they will be laid to rest. She was eighteen years of age, and during life was a great favorite. Her death was a peaceful, quiet one and with her face wreathed in smiles her soul took its flight to its Maker.

Superior Court.

The Fulton superior court reconvened yesterday with Judge Hillyer presiding. The civil docket was taken up and work begun with the case of Jacobs vs. Ashley. Suit on note for $500. The trial monopolized the entire day and the jury had not returned a verdict up to a late hour last night.

Several orders concerning motions for new trials were passed.

Mr. R. H. Knapp was commissioned a notary public.

Late in the afternoon the following grand jury was empanneled:

The Patterson Case.

Soon after the organization of the grand jury yesterday many of the leading business men of Atlanta might have been seen standing around the city hall as though awaiting the coming of some important event. An inquiry into the cause of the presence of these gentlemen developed the fact that they were awaiting a call before the grand jury to testify concerning the charges recently brought against Mr. W. H. Patterson, cashier of the late Citizens' bank of Atlanta. The grand jury was in session until a late hour, and although it was generally believed that these charges were undergoing a careful investigation, no reliable information as to the extent of their investigation could be obtained. It is thought that the case will be resumed this morning and prosecuted until an end is reached. A very large number of the leading business men of the city have been called upon to attend this session of this body of investigators, and the general presumption is that they are wanted to depose in the Patterson case.

Highway Robbery.

About 9 o'clock last night as Mr. Bud Penley, a citizen of Lithonia, was walking down the railroad track between the union passenger depot and the Brown block, he was set upon by two unknown men and robbed of one hundred and forty dollars in money. Mr. Penley says that his assailants slipped up behind him and grabbed his arms, and before he could call for help had rifled his pocket and fled. The police are working the case.

Colorado Nuggets.

Some fine specimens of silver ore from Pitkin county, Colorado, were brought to this city yesterday by Professor B. Clark Wheeler, an eminent mining engineer and explorer of the Rocky Mountain regions. One specimen of pure silver, weighing forty-four ounces, was extracted from twenty-four pounds of ore. It is as beautiful as it is rich. Last evening it was on exhibition at the Kimball house, and this morning it will be added to the ore collection of the centennial state at the exposition.

Habeas Corpus.

For the possession of Joe Holmes, a small colored child, a writ of habeas corpus was yesterday sworn out by Emma Brazelton against Emma Payne. After a hearing Judge Calhoun awarded the keeping of the child to Emma Payne.

FINANCIAL FACTS

NEW YORK, November 28.—The week opened on stock exchange with a strong tone to speculation, and prices were generally ⅛@1¼ per cent higher than Saturday's closing figures, latter for Memphis and Charleston and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. In the early dealing there was a further advance of ¼@1¾ per cent, which was most marked in Louisville and Nashville, Denver and Rio Grande, Nashville and Chattanooga, and St. Paul, Minnesota and Manitoba. Subsequently there was a decline of ¼@1¼ per cent, latter in Manhattan Elevated, and the market continued feverish until about the second board, when prices again took an upward turn and rose ¼@1⅛ per cent, the Northwest leading. Later, when money became somewhat tight, a reaction of from ⅛@⅞ per cent ensued, but in the final dealings speculation again became strong and the market closed at a fractional recovery. Oregon Navigation was notably weak and declined 5½ per cent on the day's transactions. Transactions aggregated 331,200 shares.

C. G. GROSSE,
MERCHANT TAILOR,

30 WHITEHALL ST., UP-STAIRS.

HIS STOCK EMBRACES SOME OF THE MOST elegant and tasty goods ever brought to the city before. The two suits made by the Willimantic Linen company on governor's day, for Governor Colquitt and Governor Bigelow were cut and made by Mr. Grosse in less than five hours. Their beauty, fit and taste in make were subjects of universal comment and praise, and many high compliments were passed upon the work by the governors and distinguished visitors who thoroughly examined the suits as they were worn at the receptions on the evening of Governor's day.

AFFAIRS IN GEORGIA.

WHAT THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE ARE DOING.

Attempted Jail-Breaking in Thomaston—A Boom in Business at Canton—Work on the Marietta and North Georgia—Horribly Mangled—Captain John J. Seay for Mayor of Rome.

By Mail and Wire to The Constitution.

EUFAULA, Ala., November 26.—Mr. Z. J. Daniel, the old and highly respected citizen of this place, the proprietor of the steam machine shops, who was so horribly mangled by becoming entangled in a rapidly moving belt the other day, is still alive; no hopes of his recovery are entertained.——Mollie, little daughter of Mr. A. O. Courie, is quite ill of typhoid malarial fever. The illness of Judge Clayton's daughter, Helen, in Montgomery, of the same disease, caused the judge, by the advice of the bar, to adjourn court on Thursday morning and go to Montgomery that evening.——A very heavy frost here last night.

CONYERS, November 28.—Mr. L. F. Greer and his two accomplished daughters, Miss Gussie and Miss Sallie, of Forsyth, are visiting Mrs. Lucy Thrasher, of this place.——Dr. McDonald, of this county, who lost a valise containing a fine set of dental instruments by theft, was fortunate enough to recover them last week. They were left in a store at Jonesboro. The doctor went over and got them and asked no questions. They were stolen from him about a month ago, out of his buggy, an account of which I sent you at the time.——Preaching at the Presbyterian church yesterday by Rev. H. Quigg and two elders W. L. Pink and S. J. Cowan, and Mr. T. D. O'Kelley, as ordained deacon. The services were very impressive.——I regret to announce the severe illness of Mr. A. C. Taylor, our former postmaster. Mr. Taylor has been in feeble health for some time, but for the past few days he has been growing much worse.——The advance in cotton is bringing the staple to market in considerable quantities; one day last week I was told 300 bales were received.

LEARY, November 21.—Married, at Arlington, on the eve of the 23d, our most popular young conductor, Mr. D. Jones and Mrs. Eddie D. Prather, the Rev. Mr. Muse officiating. They were married at the residence of the bride, and then took cars, arriving at Blakely on schedule time. So much for business. The wedding party was met at the depot with ample livery to convey them up to the Livingston house, where the most bounteous repast awaited them it has ever been the good fortune of the writer to partake of, after which the entire party retired to the parlors and there listened to some of the most splendid music we have ever heard. They received a great many very fine and handsome presents. We wish them a calm and peaceful voyage over life's troubled seas, and a safe anchorage on the celestial shores. If their lives are closed as they have begun on their wedding eve, they are blest of mortals most.——Ice in southwest Georgia this morning.

CANTON, November 26.—Business is on the boom here and merchants are all in smiles.——The maturing obligations of our farmer friends and others are being very promptly met, notwithstanding the short crop, yet the merchants have a large surplus of notes and accounts on hand which they are anxious to dispose of.——The Walker brothers, two deaf and dumb young men, have been exhibiting this week at the court house their sun pictures, etc., to very good crowds.——Our railroad moves steadily forward. There has recently been an office opened at what is known as Keith's station, about three miles above town, across the river. The three new coaches on the road are filled every Tuesday morning with passengers visiting the exposition, the fare having been reduced to 75 cents for the round trip to Marietta and return. To Atlanta and return $1 25.

ROME, November 25.—Thanksgiving day was properly observed here yesterday.——Miss Fannie Graves, a young lady about sixteen years of age, died Wednesday morning, of typhoid fever, and was buried to-day. Many friends mourn her untimely death.——Colonel Henry D. Capers will write up the exposition for the Courier. Colonel Capers is one of the most able and vigorous writers in the south, and his accounts of the exposition cannot fail to be interesting.——The young ladies of Shorter college tendered a reception to their gentleman friends last night.——Captain John J. Seay has entered the race for mayor, backed by many friends.

DALLAS, Paulding County, November 26.—All is lovely at Dallas; farmers done gathering crops and now gone to work on the railroad. General Sullivan has a superabundance of railroad ability; all his movements are solid and expeditious. Good luck to Colonel Cole and his aids.——Rev. F. M. Duncan will teach the Dallas high school next year.——Our preacher, J. T. Perryman, is about to leave for conference. We hope that he will be sent straightway back to us. He has done much good here and will do more. May God send him back to Dallas.

FAYETTEVILLE, November 28.—Our quiet little town was alarmed this morning at 1½ o'clock, by the cry of fire, which was discovered to be the Masonic Lodge on fire, in which two rooms were rented, one to Mr. J. W. Kitchens, who did a mercantile business, and the other to Mr. E. B. Langston for a boot and shoe shop. Kitchens' loss is supposed to be about $1,200 and Langston's loss near $300; no insurance on either. The house was supposed to have been robbed and then set on fire. The fire originated in the store room of Kitchens. Nothing was saved as the fire was so rapid.

THOMASTON, November 28.—There are four prisoners in jail here. Last Saturday night they attempted to make their escape by tearing up the floor, but they were discovered and placed in chains.

From Clyde, O., Mr. G. J. Doig writes: Having by personal observation assured myself, it is my duty to make the following known to the public: For three years my wife suffered with most terrible pains in the small of the back; so intolerable indeed, that for whole nights she could not find rest. I consulted the best physicians, placed her under their treatment, and spent a great deal of money; but all of no avail. She could not be relieved. With each change of the weather she would be unable to move, and therefore unqualified to attend to her daily duties. I had read of the wonderful cures made by St. Jacobs Oil, and concluding to try it bought a bottle, the use of which soon stopped all the pain, and to-day my wife is well and strong and fully able to discharge her household duties. The sum of fifty cents has cured her of pain which she would not take back for a thousand dollars.

Watch Carefully Your Health.

Are your hands and feet cold? Does your pulse beat irregular? Does your heart quickly palpitate at the least exertion, worriment, or nervous excitement? Does your face often flush from a rush of blood to the head? Are you troubled with dyspepsia, indigestion, or some urinary disorder? Beware! Death may at any time suddenly ensue from apoplexy. Do not delay. Your system needs some true medical tone. Nothing is so good as Brown's iron bitters. This excellent remedy will assist nature in quickly regaining her lost hold on health and life. It strengthens every part of the system, and restores the different organs of life to their normal condition. In diseases of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to weaken both mind and body, it invariably acts like a charm.—Journal. nov27—d&w1w

If You Are Sick, Read

The Kidney-Wort advertisement in another column, and it will explain to you the rational method of getting well. Kidney-Wort will save you more doctor's bills than any other medicine known. Acting with specific energy on the kidneys and liver, it cures the worst diseases caused by their derangement. Use it at once. In dry or liquid form. Either is equally efficient; the liquid is the easiest, but the dry is the most economical.—Interior.

Wilbor's Cod-Liver Oil and Lime.

The great popularity of this safe and efficacious preparation is alone attributable to its intrinsic worth. In the cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Scrofulous Humors, and all Consumptive symptoms, it has no superior, if equal. Let no one neglect the early symptoms of disease, when an agent is at hand which will cure all complaints of the Chest, Lungs, or Throat. Manufactured only by A. B. Wilbor, Chemist, Boston. Sold by all druggists.

LOCAL TIN-TYPES

FROM OUR REPORTERS' POCKET CAMERAS.

Yesterday in the City—What was Done and Said by Home-Folks and Strangers—The Gossip of the Town as Taken on the Fly—In and About the Courts and Departments.

LOST CHILD.—John Calvin, a small white boy, strayed from its home, 120 Loyd street, yesterday, and for quite a while created quite an anxiety in that locality, but his return puts things to rest again.

BURY ME NEAR THE OLD HOME.—The above is the latest song and chorus of Will L. Thompson. The melody is very pretty, and already the piece has been a great favorite Lovers of popular music can procure a copy from W. L. Thompson & Co., East Liverpool, Ohio.

TAKING IN THE EXPOSITION.—The Rev. Dr. Heidt, of the LaGrange female college, will escort about thirty-five young lady pupils of that popular female school through the exposition buildings to-day. A portion of these fair visitors reached Atlanta Saturday, but the majority came yesterday on the West Point train.

ATLANTA, November 27.—Editors Constitution: Dear Sir—In connection with your published list of committee of reception for National cotton planters' association, may I ask if there were no privates in the confederate army? Also, whether Messrs. Dunn and Winship feel honored in their singularity or ashamed of their loneliness.

A VISITOR.

A HAPPY MARRIAGE.—Mr. Robert B. Franklin and Miss Mary B. Wiard were married yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's father, on Windsor street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John W. Heidt. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. William L. P. Wiard, and is a most accomplished and charming lady. Mr. Franklin is quite popular in Atlanta, and, in fact, wherever he is known.

SENT TO JAIL.—Ed Smith and Henry Wilson, two colored boys, were yesterday arraigned before Judge Tanner for a preliminary trial upon warrants charging them with burglary. The evidence by the arresting officer, Mr. Russell, established the fact that the accused had burglariously entered Mr. Augustus Flesh's house one day last week and had stolen quite a quantity of clothing. In default of bond they were sent to jail.

THE ARRESTS YESTERDAY.—Yesterday was a quiet day notwithstanding the fact that the town was full of people, and the police had little to do. Among the state cases made was one against Tom Madison, who is charged with larceny. H. Rivers was also taken in by Officers Rapp and Pittman. The charge is assault. Hampton Reid was detected breaking into a box car, and was calaboosed by Officers Sheridan and McEwin. Henry Akin and Abe Butler were booked by Officers Moss and Barnes for gaming.

LIBRARY NOTES.—The board of directors hold their regular monthly meetings on the first Tuesday evening in each month.

—The new history of Georgia, by Colonel Avery, has been purchased by the library purchasing committee and is now on the shelves, but no one will be permitted to take it from the library hall It is to be used exclusively for reference.

—One hundred and twenty-five books were taken out by the ladies Saturday.

—The beautiful picture "Cupid and Psyche" donated by Mr. N. V. Young is attracting considerable attention. It is a rare piece of work.

—The young men of the city who compose the leading literary clubs meet at the library hall.

—Every one should encourage this worthy institution. For $3.35 you can get the benefit of ten thousand books from the 1st December, 1881, to 1st April, 1882.

A HIGH COMPLIMENT.—Rev. J. W. Lee, one of the most prominent young ministers in the North Georgia conference, has just concluded a year of most successful service to the Methodist church at Dalton. After speaking in the highest terms of Mr. Lee the Dalton Argus gives the following evidence of his zeal:

The people have cheerfully given $1,550 cash for a new parsonage to be completed and furnished for the pastor early in the coming spring; $400 cash has been given for the beautiful pipe-organ which is an ornament to the church and the glory of the choir; $100 has been raised for the purchase of a district parsonage. These sums and the regular church collections, together with the pastor's salary, $800, make an aggregate cash contribution during the year, for gospel work, of upwards of $3,500.

This generous sum is the glad offering of a Christian people whose pastor has endeared himself to their hearts. We earnestly hope that Mr. Lee may continue in the months to come, a work so excellently begun, during the year now closing.

No. 16. Walsh vs. City Council of Augusta. Injunction, from Richmond. Argued. W. W. Montgomery; S. F. Webb; M. P. Carroll, for plaintiff in error. H Clay Foster, contra.

No. 17. McArthur et al vs. Mathewson et al. Injunction, from Richmond. Roberts & Delaney; L. A. Hall; Barnes & Cumming, for plaintiff in error. J. S. & W. T. Davidson; Kibbee & Martin, contra.

At the conclusion of the argument of Mr. Barnes, the court adjourned until 9:30 a.m. to-morrow.

PATIENCE.—The success of this new and charming opera, heard in this city last evening for the first time, and by a large and brilliant audience, was almost assured beyond question after the chorus of dragoons was heard, though that is in the very beginning of the opera. It flavors strongly of the musical works heretofore published by Gilbert & Sullivan. Patience is a telling blow at what is known as the æsthetic craze, the disciples of which "despair droopingly," are "soulfully intense," and "are limp and cling." The libretto is bright, sparkling and has a merry jingle. It is in two acts. The finale's to each are in a great measure operatic. The prettiest number in the score is the duet in the first act between Patience and Grosvenor, "Hey Willow Willow Waly." The music of the opera is admirably adapted to the types of character. The colonel's song is martial and manly, while Grosvenor's song is limp and æsthetic. All of the concerted pieces bear the impress of Sullivan's strong musical individuality. Lady Jane's song in the second act, "The Silver Churn," and the duet between Bunthorne and Grosvenor, called forth much enthusiasm. There are two heroes of the opera, Bunthorne, a fleshy poet, and Grosvenor, an idylic poet. We have not space to mention the recitation and song by Lady Jane, a massive female who tells her beloved to come to her "rugged old bosom," and warns him that she is ripe and almost decaying. Nor can we refer to the verses of the æsthetic poet, about gentle Jane; or, of the song of the "Magnet that Hung in the Hardware Shop." In short, the opera Patience is a bright, sparkling, artistic and an amusing satire.

Mr. Charles Ford's company of thirty artists did justice to the author's endeavors. The subtle humor, the delicate art, the sharp wit, the bright music, was well brought out. We may have heard stronger voices than some of the cast possessed, yet the singing was good, the costuming handsome and the stage groupings effective. The girls lopped and æsthetically squirmed in a graceful manner, while the heavy dragoons with their uniforms appeared well. It is a good company, and witnessing one of their impersonations creates a desire for another. Be sure and go to-night and see this company in the excellent nautical comic opera, Billee Taylor.

SAVED FROM A HORRIBLE DEATH

QUINCY, ILLINOIS, November 1, 1881.
Two years ago I contracted the horrible disease, and up to May last had spent $500 for treatment by the best medical men without any benefit, on the contrary, I grew worse. My mouth and throat becoming badly ulcerated, sores breaking out on my neck and legs. I also suffered excruciatingly with Rheumatism, growing very despondent, and my best friends advised me that the icy hand of death was fast approaching, and indeed I felt such to be the case. This was my condition in May last. I caught at S. S. S. like a drowning man at a straw. After taking two bottles I could feel a great change for the better. The sores began to discharge freely and the Rheumatism to abate. When I had taken six bottles every sore had healed, my skin began to assume a natural appearance. I persisted in the use of S.S.S. until I had taken twelve bottle AND THERE IS NOT A SYMPTOM OF THE DISEASE REMAINING, and I feel as well as I ever did. I have gained 21 pounds in flesh and my friends wonder at my improved condition. I have recommended it to many and in every instance with complete success. I believe that S. S. S. has saved me from a horrible death, and wish I could induce every sufferer to do as I have done—take S. S. S. and be cured.

DR. HARTERS' IRON TONIC.

DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC.

Endorsed and recommended by the medical profession, for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, Nervous Prostration, and Convalescence from Fevers, &c.

GENTLEMEN: I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The old energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the Tonic. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the Tonic has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit.

PERSONAL.

Prof. J. M. Barnes, of Strata, Ala., College is in town.

D. C. Freeman and daughter, of Austin, Texas, are at the Markham.

Miss Jennie Pearce, of Augusta, is visiting Miss May Roark, 149 Whitehall street.

Jas. E. Tate, wife and servant, of Thomaston, Ga., are registered at the Kimball house.

Colonel Henry D. Capers, of Rome, is one of the most interested visitors at the exposition.

Messrs. Albert R. Pearce and R. P. Webb, two of Nashville's jovial boys, are in Atlanta doing the exposition.

Colonel J. H. Logan, of Griffin, Ga., one of the kindest and best men in Georgia, is a guest of the Markham.

Miss Alva Thomas, who returned home from college sick a few days ago, is fast improving, to the gratification of her many friends.

Hon. W. W. screws and wife, of Montgomery, Ala., are at the Markham house. Colonel Screws is secretary of state of Alabama and editor of the Montgomery Advertiser.

Rev. J. W. Heidt preached his farewell sermon at Trinity last Sunday. He has been serving that charge for the last three years, in which time he has done a great work. He leaves for a new field, having accepted the presidency of the LaGrange female college. The best wishes of his congregation go with him.

We learn that Rev. Atticus G. Haygood, D.D., president Emory college, Oxford, has, upon urgent invitation, gone north to deliver in various New England cities a lecture upon the new south. He lectures for the benefit of the People's church, Boston—a grand free church of which Rev. Dr. Hamilton is pastor. We believe this is the first time that a southern man has been invited to lecture in the north. Dr. Haygood was advertised for these lectures some weeks ago, but was delayed by sickness in his family.

At the Kimball From Georgia.
